

THE American Federation of Labor is opposed to the registration of aliens because the registers would be used to spy on the unions. Doubtless the fears of the unionists are not unfounded.

Our union-busters in America are capable of a lot of things in what they imagine is their holy cause, and this is true. And yet, precisely this system of registering and keeping track, not only of aliens but of everybody, has always been the custom in many of the countries from which these immigrants come, and it has not had that effect there.

It should not here, and will not, if our capitalists ill once recognize that unionism is not only inevitable, but right and beneficial. War on the existence of unionism, or refusal to deal with unionized employees through the union is futile, short-sighted and wrong.

The defense of the rights of the employer should be against unjust demands of the unions, not against their right to be dealt with to make any demands or bargains. Once let capital become enlightened for this, and labor should then be also enlightened enough to forego its opposition to the registration system.

In fact, it may have to be enlightened itself without waiting for capital. For this system in the long run, is the only way to make the immigration act effective.

And labor is the chief beneficiary of that act. If any alien who can once smuggle in is safe, after that, the immigration act will be of little protection to American labor.

WE are still a hopelessly conservative people. Everywhere else the labor movement is the center of radical economic and political theories.

In America, the wildest demonstration of enthusiasm at the meeting of the American Federation of Labor was at the declaration of President William Green against any dealings with Russian organizations so long as they adhere to their present philosophy of opposition to free democratic government. The whole long rule of Samuel Gompers was a protest against economic radicalism.

The administration of President Green continues the same policy. And the elected delegates get him an ovation for saying so. American organized labor is not only a good thing for the workers, who, under its methods, are much the best off of any workers in the world, but it is a good thing for all the rest of us, too. It is our most potent stabilizing force. It makes for sound economics and good government.

LONDON papers comment bitterly on recent art sales which threaten to make New York an art center, by sheer force of money, as against the ancient centers of culture. What right has mere money, gained by the luck of war, to shift the center of gravity of art and culture also?

It is a common complaint, but a forgetful one. The galleries, and even the great homes of England, are full of masterpieces of Italian, Spanish and Flemish art. How did they get them? By money, and the fortunes of war, in former generations.

The foundation of every aristocracy, of every art movement or collection, of all the things which are looked down on as "mere money" has always been wealth. The only time wealth is "vulgar" is when it is new.

If we do to England by wealth a small part of what England did to Spain by wealth, our descendants may be the ones to despise the vulgarity of some later people rich enough to do the same thing to us.

If a man is determined to break into jail, there is no way to keep him out. Witness John J. McNamara. They tried to make a "martyr" of him when he was arrested for dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building and killing twenty-two unoffending workmen.

He scarcely lost all that martyrdom even when he confessed that he was guilty, and, by confession, was lucky enough to escape hanging. Released from the California prison, after serving a moderate term, he was still a martyr, and was again a leader. Now he is once more convicted, this time of blackmail.

Laboring men, even those who believe in the "class war," should realize that whoever will commit crimes against them, and that whoever escapes jail, and that whoever is sure to break in for another, the "kangaroo court," which tries each new prisoner on the charge of "breaking into jail," knows more of human nature than some more reputable courts.

Consider The Shoe Leather—

A small expense item, perhaps, but it assumes greater importance when added with other items that make up the cost of house-hunting.

And surely the weary hours of walking from street to street must be considered—

Unless, as this party did, the classified ad in the Register are consulted first.

One local advertiser tells us that a number of Santa Ana folks must have been looking for the very house he wanted to fill.

Because he had no trouble at all in locating a good tenant after his Classified Ad appeared one day.

Rental problems, like many others, are easily and quickly solved by calling 87 and asking for an Ad-Taker.

Disarmament Parley Looms In Europe

FAVOR CALL FROM LEAGUE OF NATIONS

French Do Not Desire Invitation to Conference To Come from America

ALL TO BE INCLUDED

Every Country Will Be Requested to Take Part In International Parley

(By United Press)
PARIS, Oct. 20.—The French foreign office, unofficially, expects an invitation to a disarmament conference to originate with the League of Nations, rather than in Washington.

The league is understood to have everything in readiness to distribute its invitations the minute Germany becomes a member.

The French press takes the attitude that France would prefer to accept a league invitation, rather than one from President Coolidge, because the armed backing of the league is held more substantial than the moral support of the United States.

A disarmament conference of all nations logically follows the signing of the Locarno security pact, Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, said as he passed through Paris on his way home.

It is said he expected the League of Nations to take the initiative, but that all nations would be included in the invitations.

PRESIDENT FAVORS ARMS CONFERENCE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge thinks that a European conference for the limitation of European armaments would be very useful and hopes that the conference will call a disarmament conference for all nations, or which might be interpreted as interference. It was emphasized that, in the absence of any definite conference proposal, the president will not commit this government in advance regarding its actions in attending an European conference or calling a Washington conference.

The outstanding fact of the present situation, it was explained, is that public opinion in Europe has risen above war fears sufficiently to make its armament discussion practical.

TREATY PLEASING TO GERMAN PEOPLE.
BERLIN, Oct. 20.—Publication of the pact of Locarno evoked the most favorable reactions in Germany, except among the extreme leftists. The Berliner Tageblatt praised the treaties because they are not ambiguous and declared the Rhineland pact was a "Magna Charta of European relations."

WHITE MAN AND COLORED POLICE OFFICER ARE SHOT IN MINIATURE RACE RIOT

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—A miniature race riot broke out at a negro barbecue at Oxnard early today, resulting in the shooting of a white man and a colored Los Angeles police officer.

A second bullet affray occurred on city streets here, when three Hollywood policemen sought to stop four of the negro participants rushing to a local hospital with the wounded white man. No one was hurt in the second shooting match.

The riot flared, it is alleged, when William L. Jones, negro officer, paid court to a Mexi-

Bulgars and Greeks In Battle

ATHENS, Oct. 20.—Fighting of a serious nature took place today between Greek and Bulgarian frontier guards near Demirhisar, in Macedonia.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens says Bulgarian troops attacked a Greek post and killed a Greek official, as well as a Greek captain, who advanced toward them waving a white flag. General fighting then broke out, according to the dispatch, and at the time of cabling had lasted 19 hours.

EIGHT INCHES OF SNOW FALLS IN OHIO AREA

(By United Press)
CORTLAND, Oct. 20.—Telephone and telegraph lines were down and traffic was hampered today by an eight-inch snowfall, which covered a wide area in Trumbull county today.

The snow began falling early last night and continued unabated until this morning. Trees were laden and branches broken. Telephone and telegraph wires sagged to the ground under the burden.

The snow was the heaviest for this time of the year since 1873.

WINTER COLD EXTENDS OVER EAST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Winter's chill hand was laid over most of the eastern United States today with a northwest gale blowing cold polar air as far south as the gulf coast.

Warmer weather, however, is predicted by the weather bureau for tomorrow. The disturbance that was central yesterday over Lake Huron has moved eastward to the Canadian maritime provinces and high barometric pressure is prevalent over most of the east except the lake region and the north Atlantic states.

Advancing eastward on the heels of the cold wave is another disturbance, now central over Alberta, which is bringing warmer temperatures to the Rocky mountains and plains region and ultimately to the east.

The lowest recorded temperature in the United States last night and this morning was 18 degrees at Valentine, Neb., Huron, S. D., and Williston, N. D. The highest at 8 a. m. today was Key West, Fla., which was 84.

GOOD SEASON FOR FRUIT MEN SEEN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Another season of prosperity is in store for California fruit growers, according to E. G. Dezell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange.

"I have just returned from a six weeks' trip throughout the east and all our representatives there are particularly optimistic over the outlook and believe we will enjoy another good year and get fair prices for our products," Dezell said today.

"The Florida orange crop is short and the apple crop also is smaller than ordinarily. Good prices for our citrus fruits and apples seem assured."

"The midwest agricultural section has had a fairly good year and its buying power is greater than it has been for some time. Our market is thus made better."

"Our crops here are good in all varieties and there is every reason to feel good over our business prospects for this fall and winter."

FIGHT DIE ON MELLON PLAN TO CUT TAX

Republicans on Ways and Means Body Lukewarm To Secretary's Proposal

WILL NOT CO-OPERATE

Democrats Openly Voice Disapproval of Scheme To Reduce U. S. Levies

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The new Mellon tax plan is in for a fight. Suggestions made by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon were received with reserved approval by most Republican members of ways and means committee, which is framing the new tax bill, and Democrats openly turned their thumbs down. Promises of non-partisan co-operation were nowhere in evidence.

Even some of the leading Republicans on both sides of the capitol manifest their disapproval of the scheme suggested by Mellon. They desire a straightout exemption for incomes under $5000, and about this project, the entire settlement revolves.

Vigorous in Condemnation
Committee members contend they have not had enough time to consider the new Mellon plan in its entirety and determine its merits and demerits. But Representative Garner, Texas, ranking minority member of the committee, speaking for the Democrats, was stern in his condemnation. The plan would never go through congress, he predicted.

The str is raised over Mellon's suggestion that the present brackets of 2, 4 and 6 per cent on normal incomes be reduced to 1, 3 and 5 per cent, with a stipulation that the present 25 per cent allowance for earned incomes be eliminated. According to the experts, including Joseph McCoy, actuary of the treasury department, this would provide no material reduction for persons with incomes under $10,000.

Chairman Green announced he believed taxes could safely be lowered beyond the $300,000,000 mark set by Mellon. Other Republican and Democratic members privately gave the same opinion.

Mellon Plan in Brief
Briefly, the Mellon plan—for it is a complete tax plan, though Secretary Mellon does not desire that it should be described as his own personal project—is as follows:

Normal Tax.—The rate would be reduced from two per cent to one per cent on incomes of less than $4000; from four per cent to 3 per cent on the next $4000 and 6 per cent to 5 per cent on the next $4000.

Surtaxes.—A graduated scale is proposed on incomes of $12,000 to 20 per cent on $150,000 and above.

Estate and Gift Taxes.—Both would be repealed.

Admissions.—The theater and amusement tax would remain the same as at present—10 per cent on admissions of more than 50 cents.

Automobiles.—Tax on accessories, trucks and tires would be removed entirely; tax on pleasure automobiles to be retained as now.

Would Stop Publicity
Publicity—Publication of tax returns would be repealed.

Corporations.—The treasury has no objection to combining the capital stock tax with the corporation tax for a flat rate of 13 1/2 per cent on all corporations.

Miscellaneous.—Taxes on art to be abandoned; on jewelry to be corrected to prevent evasions.

How Plan Would Work
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winston issued the following table of figures to indicate what a married man without dependents would have to pay under the new Mellon plan:

Net Income	Pres. Tax	Sug. Tax
$ 4,000	7.50	5.00
4,000	22.50	15.00
5,000	37.50	25.00
6,000	57.50	45.00
7,000	87.50	75.00
8,000	127.50	105.00
9,000	167.50	135.00
10,000	207.50	175.00

Frenzy on Wall Street Continues

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Wall street's frenzied trading, which started last Friday, continued unabated today.

A total of 2,826,900 shares changed hands during a session characterized by sensational price changes in many lines and in which the specialty list and rails shared with motor stocks the general attention.

The total sales yesterday were 2,676,300 and on Friday, when a record was set, 2,825,400.

Prexy Probes University Gaming Charge

BERKELEY, Oct. 20.—Charges by a student paper that gambling games are conducted at Stephens Union, University of California, were under investigation here today by President W. W. Campbell.

Edwin J. Duerr, editorial writer on the "Daily Californian", charged that one fraternity used force to compel one member to remain away from card games and conduct his studies and that bets as high as $25 were made in the games.

Duerr laid blame on commuting students and said the fault lay with 20 or 30 individuals.

VATICAN GIVEN HUGE CREDIT BY GOTHAM BANKS

ROME, Oct. 20.—An agreement has been reached between the Vatican and Blair and company and the Chase National bank, of New York City, establishing a $1,500,000 credit for the Vatican in New York.

The announcement was made exclusively through the United Press today.

Arrangements for the credit were consummated in a letter sent by the papal secretary, Cardinal Gasparri, to the New York banks on October 11, stating that the Vatican was delighted with agreements for credit with Blair and company and also especially with the Chase National bank.

Cardinal Hayes, of New York, has been authorized to sign the agreement on behalf of the Vatican.

The conditions under which the credit was established follows:

1.—The amount of the credit shall be $1,500,000, part of which shall be left on deposit in the Chase National bank, in order to insure continuity of relations between the Holy See and the banks.

2.—That part of the credit which is used by the Holy See shall be repaid upon expiration of one year from the date when it is drawn.

3.—For credit drawn, interest of 4.9 per cent shall be paid.

Establishment of the credit signifies that the Blair and Chase banks have become the Vatican depositaries.

GOTHAM BANKERS REFUSE COMMENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Officials of the Chase National bank and Blair and company today both refused to comment in any way on the announcement in Rome of the establishment here of a credit for the Vatican. The announcement aroused much interest in financial circles. As far as bankers knew, no such credit had ever been established in this country by the Vatican.

Wisconsin Man Named Moderator

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Frank J. Harwood, Appleton, Wis., a layman, was elected moderator for the National Council of Congregational Churches of the United States, at the opening session of the council's meeting here today.

Harwood succeeds the Rev. Rockwell H. Potter, Hartford, Conn. The convention will continue until the night of October 23.

President Coolidge himself a member of the First Congregational church here, will address the meeting tonight.

Rupert Hughes Is Ordered In Army

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Major Rupert Hughes, of the army reserve corps, noted novelist and short story writer, has been ordered to active duty here, effective December 27, the war department announced today. Hughes has reported to the army war college for a course of instruction in military intelligence. His home is in Hollywood, Calif.

Barbers Vote to Increase Prices

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—Mere man, already ousted from his favorite barber shop chair by the bobbed-haired women, today faced an increase of from 50 to 65 cents for a haircut and 35-cent shaves instead of 25-cent ones, voted 241 to 3 by the barbers' union here. Union officers and representatives of the employers will meet Wednesday night to select the date on which the increases will become effective.

14 INDICTED IN ALLEGED OIL SWINDLE

Bench Warrants Are Issued In Los Angeles for Oklahoma and Texas Men

FACE U. S. CHARGES

Promoters Said to Have Fleeced Southland Investors of 20 Millions

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Fourteen Oklahoma and Texas oil operators were under federal indictment here today, in connection with an alleged $20,000,000 promotion swindle.

Bench warrants have been issued for 14 accused men, and bonds of $10,000 ordered in each case.

The indictments resulted from an extended investigation by federal agents of the invader group of oil companies, with headquarters at Muskogee, Okla., and the Owenwood group, of Fort Worth, Tex.

More than 10,000 investors, notably residents of Southern California, are said to have been victimized by promoters of the invader and Owenwood groups.

The indicted promoters include Owen A. Wood, president of the Owenwood Oil corporation; B. Frank Wood, vice president; Bert G. Wood, insurer and attorney; Otis F. Wood, field superintendent; H. H. Hay, vice president; J. F. Canterbury, comptroller; C. W. Bishop and C. E. Pollard, secretaries; C. E. Zimmerman and Lloyd Kenyon, literature writers.

B. Frank Wood was president of the invader concern, and his three brothers were officials also. Others indicted were Robert S. Ogilvy, vice president; M. Board, vice president of Muskogee; L. C. Boyd, secretary and treasurer; and J. Leigh Nourse, director.

WOULD LOCK RUM JOINTS IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Padlock proceedings were started today by U. S. Attorney Emory Buckner against 30 of the leading night clubs of New York City, in which evidences of violation of the Volstead act have been discovered.

Several of the places which are named in Buckner's suit were padlocked last spring when the U. S. attorney opened his campaign against prohibition violation on the "gay white way."

They since were permitted to reopen upon agreement not to sell intoxicating beverages, an agreement which Buckner and his aides assert was not kept.

Move to Improve Pacific Relations

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—An organization designed to bind the countries of the Pacific ocean along more friendly and mutually profitable lines was established here today.

The alliance is to be known as the Pan-Pacific Association for Mutual Understanding.

It will function along purely educational lines, the main idea being to interchange information which relates to the home and civic life of various Pacific countries.

Committees were formed which consist of an American citizen as chairman, a consul of a foreign country, a native of a foreign country living in Los Angeles and a native living in his home land.

W. C. T. U. CHIEF DECRIES LACK OF ENFORCEMENT OF U. S. LAW AGAINST BOOZE

(By United Press)
OAKLAND, Oct. 20.—Plea for an international vision on prohibition because "other nations are watching our dry law regime" was made here today by Mrs. Addie Garwood Estes, Berkeley, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union of California, in her address to the annual convention.

"The enforcement of the prohibition law is not up to a satisfactory standard as yet," Mrs. Estes admitted, but declared "many other laws are not enforced any better."

"Education of public sentiment," was declared the task facing the W. C. T. U. Capt. Charles Goff, retired northern California and Nevada federal dry administrator, was praised by Mrs. Estes.

Other keynotes of the address were:

Disapproval of capital punishment; approval of the industrial farm for women and approval of the world court.

The convention today concerned itself mainly with reports. Discussion of proposed state amendments and election of officers is scheduled for tomorrow. Sessions will close Friday afternoon.

Wins $8000 In Lottery; Then Arrested

OAKLAND, Oct. 20.—To play Chinese lotteries for eight years and not win is bad enough, believes Florian Radhuper, Berkeley, but to win $8000 after waiting eight years and then be arrested before the winnings could be collected—that absolutely is the height of hard luck, he says.

Radhuper was out on bail today on a charge of possessing a lottery ticket, the "right spot" which won $8000. Fook Ah, Chinese, faced a charge of running the lottery.

"Pinched, no pay," Fook Ah told Radhuper.

APPLICATION ON WATERS OF S. A. RIVER IS FILED

(By United Press)
RIVERSIDE, Oct. 20.—An application for 250,000 acre feet of water from the shed and course of the Santa Ana river and its tributaries was filed with the state division of water rights by directors of the Conservation Association of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties, here today.

The water is to be conserved in service and subservient reservoirs and retained by dams and other means from the crest of the San Bernardino mountains, the point of the start of the river, according to the petition.

It will be used to supplement the irrigation water and will increase the domestic water supply of the cities of San Bernardino, Colton, Riverside, Orange, Santa Ana, Placentia, Anaheim and Huntington Beach.

The state has appropriated $25,000 for this work and the three counties involved have added $25,000 for the preliminary work.

Paul Bailey, of the state engineer's office, has been retained to work out the system.

BABE IS BELIEVED CREMATED IN STOVE

CORNING, O., Oct. 20.—Ashes taken from a heater in a school on the outskirts of Corning were sent to Columbus today for analysis, authorities believing a baby had been cremated there during the night.

A preliminary analysis made by Dr. R. D. Book, a Corning physician, revealed the ashes contained part of a human skull, a tooth and a bottle that had contained carbolic acid, Dr. Book said.

Entrance to the school had been forced during the night.

Sinclair Demands Whitney Pardon

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—"Immediate and unconditional" pardon of Anita Whitney, storm center of the legal controversy over validity of California's criminal syndicalist law, was demanded of Gov. Friend W. Richardson today by Upton Sinclair, radical leader and author. The U. S. supreme court yesterday upheld the California statute in the case of Miss Whitney, who is under sentence of one to 14 years at San Quentin penitentiary.

Will Search Marsh For Murder Clews

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 20.—The recesses of "murder marsh," where the despoiled bodies of two men and the skull of a woman have been found within two weeks, will be searched today by state police, county authorities and residents of this district in an attempt to clear the mysterious murders.

ARMY CRITIC TO BE TRIED OCTOBER 28

Charge Colonel with Violating 96th Article of War in Scoring Aviation

PICK COURT MEMBERS

Large List of Officers Are Selected to Hear Testimony Against Accused

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Col. Wm. Mitchell today was ordered court-martialed under Article 96 of the articles of war for his insubordination in criticizing the war department aviation policies.

Secretary of War Davis announced the trial would be held October 28 on charges of violation of Article 96 for conduct in violation of good order and discipline.

Announcement was made by Davis after a review of the charges. The statement of the department was as follows:

"Charges of violation of the 96th article of war against Col. William Mitchell having been prepared, they were referred to an investigating officer, who recommended trial. The judge advocate general then reported, as required by law, that the charges justified trial."

"By direction of the president, the court-martial will convene at the city of Washington, D. C., at 10 a. m., Wednesday, Oct. 28, 1925, or as soon thereafter as practicable for the trial of Colonel Mitchell."

The court-martial will be open, war department officials said today, unless the 13 members of the court take it upon themselves to decide upon secret sessions.

The members of the court announced by the war department are:

Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, New York, commandant of the second corps area.

Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howse, commandant of the fifth corps area.

Maj. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, superintendent of the U. S. military academy at West Point.

Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commandant of the third corps area.

Maj. Gen. William S. Graves, commandant of the sixth corps area.

Maj. Gen. Benjamin A. Poore, commandant of the seventh corps area.

Brig. Gen. Albert J. Bowley, commandant at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Brig. Gen. Edward L. King, commandant of the general service school, Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

Brig. Gen. Frank McCoy, commandant of the third infantry brigade, Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Brig. Gen. Edwin B. Winans, Fort Clark, Tex.

Brig. Gen. George L. Irwin, commandant at Fort Sill, Okla.

Col. Blanton Winslow, law member of the court, attached at present to the first corps area.

Col. Sherman Moreland, designated judge advocate of the court.

Lt. Col. Joseph I. McMullan, assistant judge advocate.

JOHNSON DUBIOUS ON MINIMUM WAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—An amendment to the federal constitution to save the women's minimum wage laws in states which have them will be introduced in the next congress, U. S. Senator Hiram Johnson announced here today.

The proposed amendment would assure states the right to enact such laws, Johnson said.

"It was a very unfortunate thing that all the work we have done in this direction should be upset by this decision," was the senator's comment on the supreme court ruling on the Arizona law.

Johnson sees danger of the court's ruling nullifying similar laws in 12 other states, including California, and believes a constitutional amendment the only sure protection.

More than 100,000 California women and girls are working under protection of this state's minimum wage law.

RIVERSIDE AD CLUB MEMBERS HEAR EDITOR

Stressing the necessity for definite and continuous advertising on the part of merchants in order to achieve the best results, J. P. Baumgartner, editor and publisher of the Santa Ana Register, himself a former newspaper proprietor in Riverside, addressed the members of the Riverside Advertising club this week, at the regular session of the organization, a dispatch from Riverside today indicated.

The meeting was described in a report printed today in the Riverside Enterprise as being one of the most helpful, from the point of view of useful information, which the members of the club have enjoyed this year.

The following quotation is taken from the Riverside paper:

"Mr. Baumgartner, a former Riverside, spoke of the necessity of definite and continuous advertising to get the best results. He recalled earlier days in Riverside when he was the publisher of a weekly paper here. He related his experience with two houses, G. Rouse and the George N. Reynolds company, and the beginning with those firms of the modern idea of advertising. He traced the growth of these businesses to the fact that they had something definite and interesting to say in their advertising and were not content to follow the old methods of announcing generalities.

"Advertising ought to be store news," said Mr. Baumgartner. "The more news you get into advertising, the better advertising it is."

"Mr. Baumgartner was accompanied from Santa Ana by several newspaper men and representatives of chambers of commerce in the Orange county harbor district. These included George Neill, secretary of the Balboa Chamber of Commerce and editor of the Balboa Times; S. A. Meyer, publisher of the Balboa Times, the Newport News and the Costa Mesa Record; J. P. Greeley, president of the Balboa Chamber of Commerce; Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce; Lotus Lowden, editor of the Anaheim Bulletin; Edgar Johnson, editor and publisher of the Fullerton Tribune.

"Each of the visitors made short addresses. Mr. Johnson, who was formerly on The Enterprise staff, told anecdotes of early newspaper days. Mr. Welch dwelt on the great advertisement that Riverside has in Mission Inn."

Formerly Egypt was practically rainless. Now, owing to irrigation and consequent increase of vegetation, there are about eighteen days' heavy rain yearly in the Nile delta.

CONSPIRACY CASE HEARING STARTED

R. E. Clough, who is accused of conspiracy to defraud stockholders of the Orange Belt Oil Refining company, of Orange was receiving preliminary hearing today in Justice K. E. Morrison's court.

Clough, according to the prosecution witnesses, gained control of the company by promising to assume its management and get the concern out of debt.

When control passed to him, it was said, there was an understanding that he should use money he collected from outstanding accounts for the payment of company obligations. This was not done, according to the prosecution witnesses.

James Meehan, Paul Clark, Dan Gruwell and others interested in the company, were called to the stand today by Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin, who was in charge of the prosecution.

Police News

M. Ramirez, 26, was arrested yesterday afternoon near Garden Grove on a petit larceny charge, in connection with the theft of a small amount of walnuts. Officers said they found 10 pounds of nuts in his home. He is being held in the county jail.

Ten turkeys were stolen from the place of Ed Stinson, Orange, last night, according to a report made to the sheriff's office. No clew to the thieves could be found by officers who investigated.

George T. Gilroy, inspector from the Los Angeles office of the state motor vehicle department, is in Santa Ana today on business with Capt. Henry S. Warner, of the local squad of state motorcycle officers.

Harold J. Lewis, 21, was arrested at 1 a. m. today by Officers Hall and Perry on a vagrancy charge. He is being held in the county jail.

NEIGHBORHOOD QUARREL ENDS IN COURTROOM

Another of the several Santa Ana Gardens neighborhood quarrels over children, which Justice K. E. Morrison says have come into his court for airing during the last six months, was heard today at the trial of Fred Germain on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Justice Morrison, in taking the matter under advisement at the close of the trial, said he intended to have the situation in Santa Ana Gardens investigated to find out if there is not some way of keeping the children under good behavior and the respective parents separated.

Germain was accused by Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Richards of causing a disturbance at the Richards home. Germain and Richards both live at Santa Ana Gardens.

According to the testimony, Germain came to the Richards home in his automobile, summoned him to the street, and told him he would have to "get his brats and get out of the neighborhood if they didn't behave."

More words were passed, Germain started home, but at a remark from Richards, got out of his machine and started back toward him, it was claimed. The latter says Germain threatened to kill, but this was denied by Germain. Richards seized a scuffling and Germain stopped. More remarks and finally Germain went home.

Trouble between the Germain and Richards children was seemingly behind the quarrel, and allusion was made to a scandal among the neighborhood youth, but the could would not admit testimony not concerned with the immediate episode. Each family, it was said, accused the sons of the other family of being connected with the scandal.

Engineer Says Invention Will Exclude Static

Samuel Chinn, mechanical engineer, residing at the Hotel Santa Ana, who already holds several patents on mechanical devices now being manufactured for the market, is at present working on a device, which, he claims, will eliminate static from radio.

Tests so far have proved very encouraging, he declares. He expects to have his invention complete and ready for demonstration before technical experts within the near future.

Another mechanical device occupying his attention is a carburetor, which, Chinn asserts, will reduce the consumption of gasoline to about 25 per cent of the amount now required to move a car over a certain distance.

S. A. Contractor Offers Lowest Bid On Causeway

Edward W. Dahl, of Santa Ana, is the lowest bidder for the middle causeway in Ventura county.

This concrete construction project is about 600 feet long and is the last of the ocean front highway work to be let. The other two causeways are under construction and will be completed in about seven months.

This work will make the Coast highway to San Francisco attractive since it follows closely the coast line and eliminates the present dangerous wooden structures.

Division Engineer Cortelyou yesterday announced the Dahl bid was the lowest of three opened yesterday. This middle causeway should cost about $13,000.

FORMER ANAHEIM MAN IS SUICIDE

Charles Landell, a brother of Jack Landell, justice of the peace at Serra, committed suicide in Los Angeles yesterday by shooting himself with a revolver. He was 52 years of age. Landell took his own life in the home of his father-in-law, Dr. J. S. Calder, 629 East Twenty-first street. His own home was at 2660 Budlong avenue, Los Angeles.

Landell was a cheese manufacturer, and is said to have met financial reverses, this being responsible, it is claimed, for his act.

Landell was born west of Anaheim and was in the Mother Colony last week calling on relatives and old friends. According to Henry Kuehl, editor and publisher of the Anaheim Gazette, Landell was despondent while in Anaheim and complained that he was not able to find many of his old friends. He did not seem to realize that in the 30 years he had been away from Anaheim many of the old timers had passed away.

When and where the funeral services will be held is not known here. The brother was in Los Angeles today arranging the details.

EXHIBIT SPACE IS GIVEN SANTA ANA

A. B. Roussele, chairman of the Industrial contract committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, arranged in Los Angeles yesterday for free display in the industrial exhibit section of the new chamber of commerce building there of manufactured products of Santa Ana. It was announced today by H. S. Samuels, industrial secretary of the Santa Ana chamber.

Space 10 by 20 feet has been given the local chamber for use by manufacturers in displaying their products to the thousands of visitors to the exhibit room.

"The exhibit offers opportunity for city manufacturers to display their wares under the most favorable circumstances, and without cost to them for the present," Samuels said.

The space is offered free until the first of next January, by which time it is expected demonstration will be made to factory managements that they can profit by renting space and maintaining a permanent display.

Confirming the arrangements made by Roussele with the Los Angeles chamber, L. V. Barger, director of the industrial exhibit, has written to Samuels, advising that residents of this city visiting in Los Angeles can make the exhibit room their headquarters and may have packages delivered there and held until their departure for home. There also is room at the chamber for parking automobiles. The new chamber building is at Twelfth and Broadway.

Shark Skin Hand Bags London Fad

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Shark-skin leather—called shagreen—is the newest vogue in London's best dressed society for hand-bags, cigarette cases, dressing cases and writing folios.

It is replacing the Parisian fashion of using lizard and reptile skins for the same type of women's articles.

In making shagreen the shark's skin is subjected to a special treatment to produce a granulated surface, which, colored in fashionable shades, is not only effective with the tailored styles of today, but also is impervious to wear and scratching.

TO RELATE EARLY ROMANCE OF CITY

The early romance of Santa Ana and Orange county will be related by the scions of two of Santa Ana's pioneers at the meeting of the Lions club Thursday at the Santa Ana Country club. It was announced today by Harold E. Wahlberg, president of the club.

Bits of interesting history of the two political subdivisions will be given by W. H. Spurgeon Jr., whose father founded Santa Ana, and by Edwin McFadden, whose father was a pioneer hardware merchant in Santa Ana.

Wahlberg also urged attention of the wives and sweethearts of members to the fact that the meeting at the country club has been arranged as a special courtesy to them. They are expected to report in full numbers.

The program is in charge of E. B. Sprague, Lyle (Andy) Anderson and Fred Wild, and special musical numbers have been arranged for the club session.

Following luncheon the women will pass the afternoon playing bridge, while the men will engage in golf. For the latter sport, H. B. Van Dien and Mark B. Lacy will choose teams from the membership and it will be game in which several "birdies" will feature.

Prizes will be offered for the card games as well as for the golf events.

Preparations are being made for serving lunch to 125 men and women.

The Well-Dressed Man
By BEAUNASH
Covers Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

STICK TO THE RULES
Every now and then, some lofty-dome professor (lofty-dome being high-brow for high-brow), who deals in ism and dogmas, bewails the decline in men's manners, though he cannot point out the cause. May it not be that the lack of formality in present-day clothes has brought in its wake a lack of gentility in our manners; tipping the hat instead of lifting it; slumping into a chair instead of sitting in it; muttering "hello!", instead of saying "Good Morning" and all those self-indulgent habits born of a free-and-easy mode of dress, for, as runs the olden English proverb, "Lax in your gaiters, laxer in your rail." The multiplication of the automobile which has literally swept us off our feet; the lure of golf and country life and the feeling that, as they say at college "Americanism Sum"—"I am an American," and therefore, free to dress as I please, have a tendency to make men lapse into a standardized appearance which is developing into a mere competition in comfort.

Now, the soft collar, the soft hat and the soft-bosom shirt are perfectly proper to wear in their rightful place, but such things do not make up the whole theme of dress. There was, and always will be, a sharp line of demarcation between street and sport; field and function; backwoods and ballroom. No single style of dress befits all places and purposes and can never be made to. The Well-Dressed Man not only takes pride in dressing smartly, but also in dressing appropriately, in having his clothes suit occasion and circumstance.

The correct collar for town and business is the starched or semi-starched collar; for sport and country knockabout, the soft collar. The correct shirt for formal and semi-formal wear is the starched or simply laundered plain or pleated bosom; for informal wear, the soft plain front. The same distinction governs the other articles of dress, from hat to shoe.

Comfort in dress is an important consideration, but it is not the only consideration, or civilized man may as well go back to the loincloth and bearskin of those days when we brandished stone clubs and made faces at the sun. The starched collar and the short-cut, circular bosom, cross-striped shirt, shown here, are styles favored in many metropolitan centers for town and business wear during the autumn and winter months. In place of the double-band collar, the wing collar and the bow-knot tie may be assumed. This is not the only correct style, but it is one of them.

of attraction. Many presents were given to Mrs. Gutmann.

Mrs. Roy W. Hitt, organizer for Santa Ana Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, urges all who are planning to join the parlor, to sign the charter as soon as possible, as the list will close on November 6, when the names and health certificates for the insurance will be sent to the grand secretary, so as to make a date for the institution of the parlor by the grand president, Miss Sue Irwin of Berkeley. No one who is not on the list will be eligible to attend these ceremonies. Dr. F. H. Peterson in the Moore building has been appointed physician for the parlor. The next meeting of the parlor will be held next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Modern Woodman hall.

The committee on entertainment for the meeting next Friday of the Women's Benefit association is planning a merry program of "stunts," when each member is asked to come prepared for a story, a poem, a song or whatever their fancy dictates, in order to make the entertainment for the afternoon. All members are urged to be present and Mrs. Etta Ericks, chairman of the committee, states that anyone who misses the meeting, will miss a treat. Refreshments will be served after the program.

Remedy in Courts

Mozley presented the opening argument for the state, after the prosecution rested. He went over the case, point by point, to prove his contention that Goetze was actually the aggressor and was not acting in self-defense. He declared that Goetze's remedy for any abuse he might have received from Mustel was in the courts. Concluding, he demanded a verdict of guilty.

C. Stanley Price, of defense counsel, replied with a long and highly emotional appeal for acquittal, his vehemence leaving him at times breathless and perspiring. He denounced Mustel as having a "yellow streak" and for using fighting tactics that not only were unfair but extremely dangerous to "young Goetze." That Goetze defended himself was only natural and what red blooded citizen might be expected to do, he contended, citing the example of the American soldiers fighting for the flag in France.

ATTORNEYS IN MAYHEM TRIAL ADDRESS JURY

Attorneys for and against Karl H. Goetze, mayhem trial defendant, were today disputing his guilt or innocence where their witnesses left off, the summing up of evidence and argument to the jury starting in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court. The case was expected to reach the jury this afternoon.

After prosecution witnesses had pictured Goetze as aggressor in a fist fight with his neighbor, Samuel J. Mustel, who lost the use of his left eye in the encounter, defense witnesses yesterday told a startlingly different story of the fray. The portrayed Mustel as first starting the quarrel by verbal attacks upon Goetze and then, when the affair reached open violence, following Goetze with several well-directed kicks, which left bruises upon Goetze and required the attendance of a physician. Goetze struck Mustel only in self-defense, according to the defense witnesses.

Cross-Examination Brief
Goetze was the first witness in his own behalf. He told his story and then let the stand at once. District Attorney A. P. Nelson and his chief deputy, C. N. Mozley, did not cross-examine him. Cross-examination of defense witnesses was, in fact, very brief in each instance. The prosecution attorneys seemed to take the attitude that the testimony was not worth paying attention to.

Mrs. Goetze followed her husband on the stand. Both of them declared that Mustel advanced upon Goetze at the start of hostilities and landed at least three kicks, bruising Goetze's thighs and his abdomen.

Dr. A. H. Domann, of Orange, testified to an examination of Goetze's injuries immediately after the encounter. Charles Andren, of Orange, the next witness, also saw the bruises, he said. Henry McKibben and Charles Oswald, of Orange, were riding past on a truck and saw a man dressed in brown coveralls, corresponding to Mustel's attire at the time, kicking rapidly at a man in blue overalls and shirt. Goetze wore blue overalls and shirt at the time of the fight.

Merle L. Fouch, proprietor of the West Chapman avenue fruit stand, near which the fight took place, also described the battle and corroborated the account given by Goetze and his wife. Fouch, McKibben and Oswald were presented as disinterested witnesses who had not been acquainted with either of the combatants.

Mozley presented the opening argument for the state, after the prosecution rested. He went over the case, point by point, to prove his contention that Goetze was actually the aggressor and was not acting in self-defense. He declared that Goetze's remedy for any abuse he might have received from Mustel was in the courts. Concluding, he demanded a verdict of guilty.

C. Stanley Price, of defense counsel, replied with a long and highly emotional appeal for acquittal, his vehemence leaving him at times breathless and perspiring. He denounced Mustel as having a "yellow streak" and for using fighting tactics that not only were unfair but extremely dangerous to "young Goetze." That Goetze defended himself was only natural and what red blooded citizen might be expected to do, he contended, citing the example of the American soldiers fighting for the flag in France.

"stands by" you through the morning ending premature fatigue

Do you feel tired, nervous, hungry, hours before lunch?

Don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Almost 90% of the time you'll find it's premature fatigue, brought on largely by an ill-balanced breakfast ration. Thousands have "draggy" mornings for that reason.

To feel right, you must have well-balanced, complete food. You can't deceive nature into accepting breakfasts that lack even a single element toward correct food balance.

That is why Quaker Oats is so widely urged today. It is almost a perfectly balanced dish.

Contains 16% protein, food's great tissue builder; 58% carbohydrate, the great energy element; is rich in minerals, and in vitamins. Supplies the "bulk" your diet needs to make laxatives seldom necessary.

Few foods have its remarkable "balance." That is why it stands by you through the morning.

TREE TEA ORANGE PEKOE

If you merely ask for Orange Pekoe you may get Tree Tea Orange Pekoe and, again, you may not. The only sure way of getting the real orange pekoe [at a price you're glad to pay] is to "say it together"—Tree Tea Orange Pekoe! Four fragrant words that mean everything in black tea!

A tire that keeps its good looks to the very end of its long service life

SOME tires that look well on the show room floor begin to look shabby after a few miles of service.

The U. S. Royal Balloon not only compares favorably in appearance with any tire when new.

The important thing to note is that it holds its good looks.

Finger marks, grease and mud stains do not show on its handsome all black body.

And the flat "Low-Pressure Tread" wears slowly and evenly.

Because the weight is properly distributed over the entire tread surface, the uneven, disfiguring wear that soon gives a ragged appearance to round treaded balloon tires does not occur.

This and the patented Latex-treated Web Cord construction of the carcass permit the U. S. Royal Balloon to be run at proper cushioning pressure.

There is no need to over-inflate to save the tires.

Thus, appearance, long mileage, comfort and car protection are all provided for.

The man who is riding on U. S. Royal Balloons is enjoying the advantages of "the balloon tire principle at its best."

WHAT COUNCIL DID COUNCIL SEEKS TO ELIMINATE RAIL BLOCKADE

Traffic on East Fourth street is blocked at the Santa Fe crossing for 32 minutes each day, according to declarations made to the city council last night by J. E. Livesey, member of a committee representing East Fourth street property owners, appointed to investigate possible changes at the Santa Fe station which would avert the necessity of trains stopping on the crossing and blocking Fourth street for eight to 10 minutes each time.

J. L. McBride, a property owner on the street, said that investigations had revealed that records at the depot had shown that four trains daily stop at the crossing for periods varying from five to 10 minutes, and that the average was about eight minutes. He pointed out that this meant traffic crossing Fourth street was stopped for 32 minutes each day.

The committee had suggested to F. T. Smith, local agent, that the company's tank for supplying water to engines be moved south two or three car lengths. This change, Livesey said, would make it unnecessary for the end coaches of a long south-bound passenger train to stand on the crossing.

He said that objection to this was interposed on the ground that it would place the baggage and express cars of such a train too far from the baggage room.

Pointing out that East First street would be closed to traffic for several months when rebuilding work on that thoroughfare starts, Mayor J. W. Tubbs said that it was imperative that Fourth street be kept open all the time.

City Attorney Z. E. West Jr., and Councilman Frank Purinton were appointed a committee to co-operate with the property owners' committee in further investigations and to consult with Santa Fe officials with reference to a solution of the situation.

"This is the best thing ever put up to the people of Orange county," said J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways, last night, in presenting the city council with a copy of the report on water conservation made by J. B. Lippincott, hydraulic engineer. McBride explained that he had been requested by the board of supervisors to present the copy and urge careful consideration by the city body.

The final step in this enterprise is with the people of Orange county, and if they manifest sufficient interest the supervisors will go further with the project," McBride said.

Eugene Griest was given permission to move two old houses out of the city from locations in the south part of the city.

The contract for city advertising was awarded the Register Publishing company at the same rates obtaining during the last year and bids for city printing were referred to the city attorney and the city clerk. Bids were submitted by G. P. Campbell the Enterprise Publishing company and the Santa Ana Printing company. Campbell's bid was the only one in regular form. The Enterprise Publishing company failed to enclose a certified check for five per cent of its bid, and the Santa Ana printing company presented a lump sum for the printing required instead of segregating by items. The lump bid was $524.88.

Complaints of Nuisance
J. C. Gilbank, property owner on the southeast corner of Fifth and Barton streets, again complained that operation of a produce market on Barton street, between Fourth and Fifth, continues to be a nuisance in the neighborhood. The matter again was referred to the city attorney and the police department.

The city attorney was directed to amend the electric sign ordinance to permit installation of such signs on tops of buildings, with no more

Rub Away Baby's Colds

A Boon to Mothers

Mothers, everywhere who realize the danger to delicate little stomachs of too much dosing appreciate the value of Vicks in treating croup and children's colds.

With Vicks there is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine—in the form of vapors which carry the medication directly to the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

Colds go overnight, croup is generally relieved within 15 minutes.

Private Park Will Be Open to Public

Santa Ana has acquired another city park—through the generosity of a resident. L. E. Martin is the donor—donor to the extent that the park will be maintained under a sign "Private property, visitors welcome."

The "breathing spot" is to be located at the corner of Ninth and Pacific streets, in the northwest part of the city, and is to be 80 by 100 feet.

Martin will maintain the park, with the city furnishing water without charge. Should the park later be closed by private interests, the free water service will cease.

PARKING STALLS IN STREETS ARE TO BE WIDENED

Parking stalls on streets in the restricted district of the city are to be made wider.

The city council issued this edict last night—and execution of the instruction is in the hands of City Engineer Nat H. Neff.

Judge J. F. Talbott, city recorder, made the recommendation to the council, and his recommendation was accepted, despite declarations by a member of the council that skirts were so high that few of them would be soiled by coming in contact with the hub of an automobile when the wearer stepped out of a machine parked by the side of another car.

The principal reason that the "berths" are to be widened is to provide space between cars sufficient to permit a woman to leave or enter a car without getting her dress soiled.

The present stalls are nine and one-half feet wide, and the width will be increased to 11 feet if, in the opinion of the engineer, that width is sufficient to meet the situation.

It was pointed out by Mayor J. W. Tubbs that the stalls are so narrow that it is difficult at times for persons in enclosed cars to open doors wide enough to get out of their cars.

CITY CLEANER TOO CLEAN, COMPLAINT

That City Engineer Nat H. Neff employed real "cleaners" when he engaged men during the city cleanup campaign to clear weeds from neglected lots was impressed on the city council last night when L. M. Hutchinson, residing in the McFadden tract, in the south part of the city, declared that the "cleaner" in his district burned hay on his lot after it had been cut and stacked.

"The man simply walked onto my lot and applied a match to my 'hay harvest,'" Hutchinson said, and he added that he since had received a bill from the city for the cost of cleaning the lot.

Hutchinson wanted to know "how come," and whether he was actually indebted to the city or whether the city was indebted to him.

Neff revealed that other lot owners had complained that their lots had been cleared of weeds by men employed by the city after the owners had themselves placed their properties in order. Clarence Gustlin was among those who had made such complaint.

Neff explained that various lots were cleared by contract and that all lots had been posted with the legal notice that they should be cleaned. Neff was instructed to investigate the complaints and make adjustments.

than 40 per cent of the length of the sign extending over the street side of a building.

Permission was given the Southern Counties Gas company to lay a 16-inch pipe line on Walnut, from Baker street to its plant on Minnie street. The line is being installed on recommendation of the railroad commission, according to Mayor Tubbs.

Consideration of a petition for annexing a district in the southwest section to the city was deferred for one week.

City Engineer Nat H. Neff was authorized to attend the good roads show and demonstrations to be held in San Francisco November 9-14. The city board of education was granted permission to change the sewer lines running through the high school grounds.

A sidewalk was ordered in on Shelton street, between First and Chestnut, and on Flower, between Tenth and Washington.

Hope for Compromise
Councilman George McPhee, the city attorney and the city engineer were appointed a committee to take up with the Pacific Electric company the matter involved in a suit filed by the railroad company to recover $655.01 paid for paving the Myrtle street crossing of the company's Huntington Beach line. The council hopes for a compromise settlement.

At the request of a property owner the council revived old petitions asking for pavement on Twentieth street, Spurgeon to Santiago, and on Valencia avenue, Seventeenth to Twentieth streets.

COMPLAINS OF CHANTICLEERS' EARLY CROWING

There are "chickens" that are desirable as neighbors, and then there are chickens that are not so desirable.

Carl Kaufman is bothered with the latter type, he told the city council last night, and asked abatement of what he declared to be a nuisance—a flock of 200 chickens, plus a bunch of rabbits.

Kaufman told the council that a neighbor maintains a flock of chickens and a rabbitry adjoining a residence he owns on Wright street. The chicken yard is just across an alley, less than 25 feet from the residence.

Crow at 5 a. m.

The roosters start crowing at 5 a. m. The owner feeds the chickens at 6 o'clock, and they swarm to the feed with such excitement and force that they leave a cloud of dust in their wake—all of which caused Kaufman such mental anguish and such disturbance of family peace that he had to vacate the house himself, and since had been unable to rent or sell it because of the neighbor's chickens. That was his story to the city governing body.

M. J. McCurdy, sanitary inspector, corroborated Kaufman's statements so far as they concerned the chicken yard and the rabbits, and recommended an immediate change in the present ordinance relating to the keeping of chickens within the city. The ordinance prohibits the keeping of chickens within 25 feet of a dwelling.

Declaring that "chicken farms" are becoming too numerous in the city, McCurdy recommended provisions in the new ordinance directing the "death sentence" or expulsion from the city of a rooster as soon as he becomes old enough to crow.

Doubts City's Authority
City Attorney Z. E. West Jr. doubted the authority of the city in the point of determining at what age a rooster begins to crow, but was of the opinion that a limit could be placed on the number that may be allowed at a "city home."

McCurdy said that he never has heard complaint against residents keeping a flock of a dozen chickens, maintained to supply the family needs for hen fruit.

Discussion on the subject ended with instruction to the city attorney and the health department to co-operate in the preparation of an amendment to the ordinance, limiting the number of chickens and establishing the distance of chicken corrals from private residences.

Niece of Former President Sings At Yost Theater

Miss Mabel McKinley, famous soprano and niece of the late President McKinley, who is appearing at the Yost theater tonight and Wednesday, returned to the stage after a lengthy retirement and scored the second greatest triumph of her life in her recent appearance at the Aeolian hall, New York. The other great triumph was in San Francisco in 1903. During those intervening years, all manner of tribute was paid to her musical genius, but these two events stand out as the milestones of her career.

Speaking of her career, Miss McKinley says she made her debut in San Francisco, hoping to get as far away from her home in New York as possible. Neither her parents nor her husband, whom she had married in 1900 knew of her intentions.

When she arrived in San Francisco, however, she was immediately selected upon by her cousin, Ida Helen McKinley, who had brought 50 persons to the station to meet her.

"Oh, Mabel, Mabel, can you really sing? I've told them so, and you surely must turn out all right!" were the words with which her cousin greeted her. Fortunately, sing the young artist could and did.

Pleasant Celebration Of Wedding Date in Home of Son

Adding immeasurably to their pleasure in life in the southland, was the wedding anniversary celebration arranged to honor Mr. and Mrs. John Estes sr. formerly of St. Louis, by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Estes jr. at their pretty home on South Broadway.

The anniversary was the forty-second one and occurred last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Estes jr. wished the celebration to be a complete surprise and their wish came true in an admirable manner. Mr. Estes planned to take his parents on an afternoon drive to San Pedro which they had not yet visited, and no mention was made of the significance of the day.

The elder people felt that their children had forgotten it, and were content to allow the matter to rest in that way, and merely recognize the anniversary in their hearts. But returning from the long drive, what was their happy surprise to learn that they were guests of honor at a delightful party, a party planned in every detail to do them honor!

The home was bright with yellow flowers, guests had arrived and were waiting with loving greetings, and in the dining-room one long table, centered with handsome dahlias and gleaming with yellow candles, was awaiting the dozen diners who comprised the merry party. Place of honor was given Mr. and Mrs. Estes sr. and surrounding them were Mr. and Mrs. Archie V. Herr, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. A. Wimbler, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Crawford, Mrs. Severin Schulte, Mrs. Arthur Lyon and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Estes jr.

The menu offered many delicacies and the final course included individual molds of ice cream representing the magical "42" which was repeated again on the wedding cake. The evening was devoted to lively games in which all present joined. A pleasant feature was the knowledge that in the former home in St. Louis another son, Wellborn Estes, and his wife were celebrating their fourth anniversary, having chosen the wedding day of Mrs. Estes' parents as the date for their own nuptials.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A chicken pie supper in connection with their annual bazaar, is the mouth-watering announcement of the members of St. Peter Lutheran Aid society for the night of Tuesday, October 27. The Y. M. C. Community Property Law Explained to Clubwomen

Claiming to feel like a very small lion amidst many dangerous Daniels, Fred Forgy, prominent young attorney of the city and secretary of the local Kiwanis club, yesterday told Business and Professional Women many forceful details of the California state laws as applying to womankind.

The talk was one of the most interesting the luncheon club members have enjoyed this year and at the same time was given a humorous twist by the young attorney, noted for his whimsical wit. In opening his subject the speaker harked back to the early English laws which served as a foundation for those of the new world and pointed out the lowly place accorded women in the scheme of civic life. He quoted Blackstone to show how the law of property recognized the rights of male children in a family but gave no recognition to the female children.

California's law of community property, he declared to be an outgrowth of the Spanish influence and declared that there was no distinction made between men and unmarried women. Sketching in the changes brought about by succeeding amendments to the law since 1917, he described in detail and in an exceedingly clear and forceful manner, the present law and its manner of application, finally closing with a quotation from Cato to the effect that "Suffer them (women) to become on an equality with you and they will at once become your superiors" whereupon he declared that he and Cato had concluded and took his seat amidst a burst of laughter and applause.

In addition to Mr. Forgy's talk were many important business details including the naming of program committees by Miss Martha Whitson, president, for November and December. For the first month, Miss Ethel Coffman will act as chairman with the Misses Norma Wingwood, Nancy Elder and Effie White as aides while in December Mrs. Freda Moesser Barger will serve aided by Mrs. Jeanne Grandy, Miss Eva Albright and Miss Elaine Wharton.

The series of talks on International Relations which Miss Jennie Lasby will give the third Thursday of each month at the Miss Lula B. Finley home, will begin in November. The hour of 7:30 p. m. has been named.

Miss Whitson was selected unanimously to represent the club at a meeting called by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to discuss the park situation.

Guests introduced included Miss Norris, a member of the Evanston, Ill. Business and Professional Women's club, Miss Fannie Pease, Miss Ethel LeMar, Miss Marjorie Lusk, Miss Clara Cook, Mrs. Barnett and Mrs. Italy Lee. New members introduced were Mrs. Cecyl Drake, Myrtle Meyer, Miss Lula Ott and Miss Vanche Plumb.

Next week's club meeting will be a social one when members will enjoy a Halloween costume party Monday night at the home of their president, Miss Martha Whitson, 810 Spurgeon street.

The Woman's Institute club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Kate Hinton.

Ebells Arts and Crafts section is looking forward to a delightful meeting Thursday afternoon at the clubhouse when Miss Sweet of Rankin's art department will be in charge of the meeting. All members of Ebells are eligible to join this section.

Church Party to Be Unique Event

After many weeks of planning, the pastor of the first Baptist church, the Rev. Otto S. Russell, and Mrs. Russell together with the congregation, will entertain at a delightful church party Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time all members, visitors and regular attendants of the church, will be greeted and entertained.

Special guest honors will be accorded all those married couples of the city and vicinity at whose nuptials the Rev. Mr. Russell officiated, and an effort has been made to get in touch with every one. The list, however, is not complete, so the entertainment committee has asked that those who may not have received the announcement but read the story of the plans, will join in the affair as honored guests.

An entertaining program will be a part of the evening's pleasure and another interesting detail will be the introduction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kern, recently come from the Bay district to assist the Rev. Mr. Russell in his ministerial duties. Mr. Kern has just completed special work at Berkeley in preparation for the new duties.

Junior Philatheas Share Party For Bride-member

Traveling last night from one end of the Moore home at 515 Eastwood avenue to the other as if she were making an extended trip, Miss Helen Kirker slowly gathered a large assortment of gifts, things useful for the kitchen of the new home to be hers after Saturday when she marries James Ingie, young business man of Tulare.

This unique shower was given for Miss Kirker last night by Mrs. Cora Moore and was a complete surprise to the bride-to-be. Guests were members of the Baptist Junior Philatheas class.

After Miss Kirker had gathered together her many gifts there was a delightful game in which every one searched for little scraps of paper hidden through the house. On each paper was the name of an ingredient for a recipe. After they were all found the guests were forced to concoct recipes from the ingredients written down. After several other interesting games delicious refreshments were served.

Those present were Mesdames J. P. Williams, teacher, B. Echols, Leah Elliott, Ruth Jones, Cora Moore, Nell Neighbor, Oa Swanke, Chloetta Hazen, Nellie Garnett, Virgie Platt, Lillian Richards, Stewart, Moore, the Misses Isabel Bennett, Irene Cravath, Glendine Elliott, Mildred Fox, Mildred Holmes, Lena Belle Hughes, Edna Inglish, Emma Lee Johnson, Laura Joiner, Naomi Keller, Helen Kirker, Mildred Marchant, Hazel McFarland, Ethel Freshley, Grace Peterman, Verna Threlkeld and Alice Wilson.

Kindergarten Club Holds Party

The Halloween season offered its characteristic decorative effects to a social gathering of kindergarten and primary teachers of Santa Ana, Tustin and Costa Mesa held last night at the Y hut on the high school campus.

The party was the first activity of the recently organized Primary and Kindergarten club and called out a half hundred interested members together with the city superintendent of schools, J. A. Cranston and Mrs. Cranston as honored guests. As each person arrived, a ghostly greeting was extended by a weirdly illuminated witch just within the doorway. Halloween was stressed in every decorative feature and at a late hour refreshments expressive of the season were served.

A short program presented Miss McIntyre in a song group with Miss Swales at the piano; readings by Miss Paul and a piano solo by Mrs. Beeson. Miss Martha Bell Pugh, president of the club, talked interestingly on the year's plans which include several such pleasant social events in addition to periodic business meetings.

Housewarming Planned By Friendly Group As Surprise

Celebrating the entry of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniell into their new home at 1445 Orange avenue, was a delightful surprise housewarming enjoyed last night by a group of their friends. Every detail of the evening had been planned in advance by the merry-makers even to arrangements for cards and prizes.

Five hundred was the chosen game and when scores were totaled after an exciting series, Mrs. Earl Lindig and H. C. Moberly were found to have won the first prizes while consolation was awarded Roy A. Parker. When the gifts were bestowed opportunity was taken to bestow a "host prize" upon Mr. and Mrs. Daniell who were presented with a handsome picture which will find a prominent place in the attractive new home.

During the friendly hour following cards, refreshments of sandwiches and coffee which the thoughtful guests had included in their plans were served.

The party included the surprised hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Daniell together with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moberly, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lindig, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Andrews, Mrs. Mary Pee Matthews and Louise Huston.

Pleasant Luncheon For Omaha Guest

Mrs. W. F. Wappich, wife of the late Judge Wappich of Omaha, Neb., was honor guest at a pleasant luncheon yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pickard, 530 South Van Ness avenue.

Mrs. Wappich has just returned from an extensive Alaskan trip with visits in Oregon and Washington and is most enthusiastic over the scenic beauties of the north country but expresses herself as happy to be in California again, where she has spent countless winters during recent years. At present she is making Long Beach her headquarters, and is located with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thomsen, where she will remain until her departure for Omaha where she will be permanently located.

At yesterday's luncheon covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Pickard, the honor guests, Mrs. Wappich, Mr. and Mrs. Thomsen, Mrs. M. E. Short of Long Beach and Mrs. Anna Hunn of this city.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

DISCUSS NEW LEGION POST HOME TONIGHT

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—Local legionnaires will make final plans for their new club house at a meeting to be held at the city hall, tonight, it was announced today by Theodore Robins, commander of the post. Part of the foundation for the building has already been laid. The building is being erected on a strip of ground leased from the city of Newport Beach. A 25-year lease has been secured on the property. The building will face on the bay.

According to Robins, it is expected that the new structure will cost about $2000. A larger and better club will be built on the Legion property later on. The structure will be 24 feet wide by 36 feet long. A hardwood floor will be laid in the building to provide for dancing. Pool tables, dining tables, rest rooms and a small kitchen will be included in the new structure.

A building committee headed by Paul Ellsworth is in charge of the building. Other members of the committee are Charles Weaver, V. A. Sebring, William St. Clair and Ernest Grill. A large veranda will be built along the eastern and northern ends of the building. In time, it is planned to extend a small wharf into the bay for the convenience of members who wish to come and go to the meetings by boat.

RUNAWAY BOYS ESCAPE POSSE

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 20.—The "boy hunt" for nine inmates of the Preston School of Industry, at Jones, who escaped from the institution early yesterday, was continued along the Mokelumne river, in San Joaquin county, today. Five of the escaped youths, surrounded by a posse of guards and citizens in the river bottoms yesterday, slipped through the lines of their pursuers and evaded capture.

While the youths were easily traced because of the peculiar markings on their shoes, they have been successful in keeping ahead of the guards. Latest reports received by O. H. Close, superintendent of the institution, were that some of the boys were seen near the Emerson ranch, four miles east of Lockford, early today.

The boys, ranging in age from 13 to 21, escaped from the school by opening one of the rear doors with a stolen pass key. Six of them are from Los Angeles and it is believed they will try to return to their homes.

Body of Murdered Youth Identified

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—The body of a murdered youth, found yesterday in the Los Angeles river bed near Maywood, was identified today as that of James J. Hogan, 13.

Identification was made by a brother, Miles Hogan, 19. The slain man had been shot through the head and heart. Investigators were unable to learn a motive for the slaying, and were without a single clue to aid them in solving the strange case.

Finger-prints of Taxi Men Asked

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—Finger-prints of taxicab drivers was declared by city officials today to be the way to end the taxi war that has flared intermittently here for a year. Police will ask authority to require chauffeur applicants to be fingerprinted and also to give their life histories.

Any woman will heartily appreciate the Garland Heat-Spreading Burner—found only on Garland Gas and Combination Ranges. You discover at once that it cooks faster. It saves time in the kitchen. You find the cooking results are better. Your whole family is glad of that. Then there is an additional pleasant discovery, that less gas is used. You can proudly point to fully a 10% saving in the monthly cooking gas bills. All of these advantages are yours because of the scientific construction of the Garland Burner, which through its proper combustion allows the base of the cooking utensil to be brought within 1/4 of an inch of the burner.

Husband Gets Sentence On Wife's Story

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—Claude Cameron, of Costa Mesa, drank too much Jamaica ginger and went home and threw his wife out of the house, according to a tale told by local police today. Mrs. Cameron appealed to police to arrest her husband. Today, Cameron is a changed man. Over his head hangs a 90-day suspended jail sentence. The sentence was imposed by Justice Ben Cope, of Balboa, after Cameron had pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace. The sentence was suspended on condition that Cameron turn $30 of his wages over to his wife each week.

DANCING, CARDS ON PROGRAM OF N. B. AUXILIARY

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—Plans for a Halloween party given by the local American Legion auxiliary October 30, were announced today by Mrs. V. A. Sebring, president of the organization. The party is to be held at the Southern Seas club and will be given for the purpose of securing new members for the Legion and the auxiliary.

According to Mrs. Sebring, a delightful program is being planned, with dancing and cards featuring the program. Refreshments appropriate for the Halloween season will be served. Discussion of the party and plans for the trip which is to be made by local members to Camp Kearney in the near future, will be discussed at a meeting of the organization held tonight. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lee Wolfe, on Central avenue.

Pies, cakes and other home made goodies are to be taken to the men at the camp. Mrs. Harry Rider is chairman of the food committee. She is assisted by Mrs. Ernest Grill, Mrs. Frank Mathews, Mrs. Clayton Thompson and Mrs. Eugene Reber.

ABANDON PROBE IN DEATH CASE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Official inquiry into the sudden death here of Mrs. Craig Biddle, Philadelphia society leader, was abandoned today following a preliminary report of the county chemist. There was no trace of a corrosive poison in the dead woman's stomach, it was reported by the examining official. There were indications, however, that death might have been superinduced by alcoholism, it was stated.

Both police and district attorney investigators declared the investigation would be dropped. "We have accepted the theory that Mrs. Biddle's death was due to natural causes," declared Detective Captain Bean of the police homicide squad. County authorities doubted that the case would ever be revived. Further chemical tests are to be made, and it will be several days before a formal report is rendered, it was said.

"I am sure the county chemist's official report will prove that Mrs. Biddle died suddenly of natural causes," declared Deputy District Attorney Harold L. Davis. "Certain phases of the case that aroused suspicion at first have been cleared up satisfactorily, leaving no cause for belief that a crime was committed."

AID SOCIETY TO MEET

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—The Aid society of the local Methodist church will meet here Thursday with Mrs. F. R. Aldrich, of Balboa Island. A short business session will be held by the women.

200 TEACHERS, STUDENTS WILL EAT AT SCHOOL

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—Table accommodations for more than 200 students and teachers of the local grammar school are to be installed in the old school auditorium, it was announced today by H. O. Ensign, principal of the school. According to Ensign, it is the plan of school authorities to place an efficient school cafeteria on an operating basis here during the coming weeks.

All school children will be required to eat at the tables, it was announced by Ensign. In this way, it will be possible for the teachers to keep in touch with the children during the noon hour and the hasty swallowing of lunches will be prevented, it is believed.

It is planned to secure additional help to run the new school cafeteria. A dumb waiter will be installed to carry food from the kitchen, in the basement, to the dining room. Several girls in the school will assist in serving, and in return will receive their lunches free.

New curtains were being installed today in the grammar school auditorium. Group singing every Friday morning is a new feature which has been inaugurated at the school. According to Ensign, it is possible that a special program will be presented once each month for the children.

Plans for transporting children in outlying districts to school were completed today. Principal Ensign, who is in charge of the transportation, announced that children living on and west of Thirtieth street will be given transportation. This includes children at Newport Heights. Children on and east of Adams street, including Balboa Island and Corona Del Mar, will also be furnished transportation.

Mesa Chamber To Convene Oct. 26

COSTA MESA, Oct. 20.—The regular meeting of the local chamber of commerce will be held here next Monday night, it was announced today by officials of the organization. The meeting was scheduled for last night but on account of the Tri-City association meeting, was postponed.

MOSES' WRITING ON TABLET DECIPHERED

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—Twenty years after the discovery of massive stone tablets on the Sinai peninsula a German Egyptologist, Professor Grimme, has come forward with a claim that the stones contain a message of thanks from Moses to the pharaoh's daughter who found him in the bulrushes. German scientists declare Professor Grimme's achievement in deciphering what proved to be ancient Hebrew on the tablets dispels doubt regarding the historic origin of the Ten Commandments and is one of the most important developments in many thousands of years of Bible research.

The tablets in question were found on what is believed to be the original Mount Sinai by Flinders Petrie, an English archaeologist, in 1905. They were too heavy to move, so he photographed them, took wax impressions of the inscriptions and then buried them. Professor Grimme is the first to solve their mystery.

INA CLAIRE DIVORCED

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Ina Claire, noted actress and one of the most beautiful women on the stage, has gained her freedom from James Whitaker, critic and former newspaperman, of Chicago. Judge John R. Caverly late yesterday granted the actress a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

ODORLESS FISH CANNERY PROPOSED FOR NEWPORT; L. A. MAN BACKS PROJECT

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—A new fish cannery may be established at Newport Beach, according to a letter read at last night's meeting of the board of city trustees.

The fish cannery, according to the letter, will be of the very latest type and will be established at once. Joseph C. Felteman, 307 Grand building, Los Angeles, wrote the letter.

Felteman asked to be informed if there is a city ordinance which would interfere with the establishment of the fish cannery at Newport Beach. The fish cannery, he declared, would be modeled after the large packing plants at Wilmington and Long Beach and would be odorless.

City trustees referred the matter to the city publicity agent, Harry Welch. Welch, it is expected, will communicate with Felteman immediately in an effort to secure the industry.

Trustees expressed themselves as being favorable to the proposed plant, pointing out that its establishment here would mean an increased payroll for the community.

OIL OPERATORS INTERESTED IN NEWPORT WELL

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—Oil companies that have been inactive here for the past several weeks are watching with interest the progress being made at the Yerkes and Bessemer wells, which is now at a depth of 2400 feet, according to reports. The well is the old Fulkerson No. 2 and is being deepened by the company in the hopes of striking a deep one of high grade oil.

Something new in the local oil field is the installation recently of electric heaters in wells. The heaters work on an entirely different principle than the steam heaters which have been in use. The heaters, it is claimed, heat from the bottom, thinning the oil far down in the well. Oil here is so thick that it must be heated before it can be pumped to the surface.

The refinery and water extraction plant of the South Basin Oil company will be in operation soon, it is expected. The company had steam up yesterday preparatory to starting pumping again. The firm has about 5000 barrels of oil in storage, it is understood. The new process will enable the company to extract 40 per cent of good oil from the oil taken from the local wells, it is claimed. The other oil will then be ready for immediate use as road oil. The plant is located on the Sloan lease in the West Newport field.

Tri-City Group Hears L. A. Lawyer

COSTA MESA, Oct. 20.—A meeting of the Tri-City Association, Inc., was held last night at the new Pennant confectionery. More than 25 members of the association were present to hear a report of business transacted.

J. L. Ainsworth, president, was in charge of the meeting. Theodore Robins is the treasurer and F. E. Russell the secretary. The association includes the cities of Newport Beach, Balboa and Costa Mesa. O. J. Marston, Los Angeles attorney employed by the association, spoke on business methods. According to a report made by F. E. Russell, many loans have been made by the association during the past two months.

Members of Civic Club Entertained

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emily L. Jarvis entertained members of the Woman's Civic league here last week, at the regular meeting of the club. The Rev. Wilbur T. Holston, pastor of the local Methodist church, spoke on "Citizenship." Miss Helen L. Coffin, local reader and magazine writer, gave several readings. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Nancy Marlow.

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 50c.

SUPERIOR OIL SEEKING YORBA LINDA LEASES

YORBA LINDA, Oct. 20.—The Superior Oil company is offering new leases to various land owners of this district. The latest offer, which has attracted a great deal of attention, is that made to the Yorba Linda Water company. This company owns approximately 31 acres and the piece in question consists of nine acres, known as Reservoir hill. This land was originally leased by the Oscar Howard Oil company which sold the lease to the General Petroleum company. This company drilled a well and put it on production. Much trouble was encountered, however, with water getting into the hole. After various difficulties, the General Petroleum abandoned the well, leaving a good hole about 3400 feet in depth.

The lease offered to the water company was not accepted by the board of directors.

The terms of the lease provided $10 an acre a month rental, but clauses in the contract were such that the oil company could postpone operations for three years. The water company board felt that development should begin at an earlier date. Also, a clause provided for offset wells which might be drilled as close as 150 feet to the boundary line of the company's other holdings.

Negotiations are still under way, however, and should the parties come to an agreement on these two points, the lease will be accepted. P. W. Damon, manager of the Citrux Exchange packing house, was offered the same terms for his 18 1/2 acres and may accept. This property adjoins the water company's holdings on the south.

The same lease was offered to A. P. Yerington but his place, with a number of others, is still under lease to the General Petroleum.

Further developments are awaited with much interest by land owners in this vicinity.

Union Oil Stops Brea Production

BREA, Oct. 20.—The Union Oil company yesterday shut in its production on the Hole lease, one of the largest petroleum properties in the Brea-Olinda district. This lease comprises 2700 acres and is owned in fee by the Union. The company has 14 wells on the property, most of which were finished years ago. With the Stearns property of the Union, the Hole lease is considered one of the substantial oil reserves of the state. Half of the production from the Stearns lease is now shut in.

The Associated Oil company is reported to have shut in production on its Hualde lease in the Brea district, and other large operators are taking steps to curtail crude runs. Continued large yield from the flush fields of the Los Angeles basin, resulting in the state producing in excess of market requirements, is responsible for the general retrenchment policy. There is a basic idea among operators of conserving the oil supply of the state for future needs rather than rapidly depleting crude oil stocks at a time when conditions do not warrant big production.

Mrs. C. F. Woods, of San Bernardino, spent Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ball. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shanks and son have returned to Brea from Missouri and other points. They have been away for the past month.

The young couple went to their new home in Laurel Heights after the ceremony.

Mrs. John Eason was hostess to the Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church, Friday, when the members quitted a quilt for Mrs. Eason. A business meeting was also held.

Afterwards, the women sewed aprons for the apron sale. A pot luck dinner was enjoyed at noon. Those attending were: Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. T. L. Gaddis, Mrs. E. E. McPherson, Mrs. N. G. Smith, Mrs. E. L. Moesser, Mrs. E. W. Jamison, Mrs. M. A. Swindle, Mrs. E. L. Allen, Mrs. Maude Swindle, Mrs. Lillie Her, Mrs. Hattie Flanagan, Mrs. Kate Reynolds, Mrs. A. E. Reynolds, Mrs. Joe Smith, Mrs. Cora Stewart, Mrs. J. Eason, Mrs. M. C. Fiscus, Mrs. Florence Morton, Mrs. L. Burgess and Mr. Cora Woolley.

Mrs. E. L. Allen was hostess at a birthday party for her son, Rex, Saturday afternoon. The children enjoyed games in the afternoon and later the hostess served ice cream and cake to the following guests: Eulah May and Beverly Smith, Emily and Ray Wheeler, Carl Olmstead, Max and Rex Allen. This was the seventh birthday of Rex and he received many remembrances.

Pythian Sisters lodge No. 137 held its regular meeting Thursday evening in Craig's hall. After evening, a social time was enjoyed, a social time was enjoyed, and light refreshments served. Quite a number were present.

Mrs. L. J. Mathews, of South Flower street, had as luncheon guests, Friday, her cousins, Mrs. Ambrose Eyrard, Mrs. W. E. Rubottom and Joseph Eyrard, of Los Angeles.

Miss Helen Fiscus spent the week-end at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fiscus. Miss Pauline Vinson accompanied Miss Fiscus to Brea.

Police Plan "Arrest" Of Canines

FULLERTON, Oct. 20.—If "Fido" or "Snookums" are allowed to run at large, they will be "arrested" immediately, according to Chief of Police O. W. Wilson, who has issued a warning that all dogs must be on leash if they are to roam on Fullerton streets. Numerous dogs without licenses have mysteriously disappeared during the past few days, through the efforts of the patrolmen.

REVISION OF TAXES ASKED BY N. B. FIRM

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—

The tax collector here has his troubles. His troubles were impressed upon the minds of the city trustees last night when a protest against the taxes of the Newport Bay Dredging company was registered. The company alleged in its complaint that it had been taxed for 22 and a fraction acres, while its holdings amount to only 16 acres. The company asked that the taxes be revised to conform with the acreage.

As the taxes have already been approved, it was pointed out by City Attorney Clyde Bishop that any change would be impossible. Tax Collector J. A. Porter informed the board of trustees that other companies had registered mild complaints.

NEW BREA AIRPORT IS GIVEN TRY OUT

BREA, Oct. 20.—Brea's new airport was officially tried out Sunday when a flock of airplanes from the Daugherty squadron at Long Beach landed on the new runway and were met by large delegations of interested citizens from Brea, Olinda, Yorba Linda, Placentia, Fullerton and many of the surrounding towns.

For the entertainment of the assembled crowd, the flyers, headed by Al Ebright, popular member of the Long Beach Aero club, put on and impromptu program, including parachute jumps and several varieties of stunt flying, and many passengers were given trial flights, the pilots declaring that the new flying field is ideally located and laid out.

The establishment of the Brea airport is the result of several weeks' work on the part of the Brea Air club, which is sponsoring an air meet on Saturday, October 31, to officially dedicate the new field. According to Frank Mason, secretary, the club was formed by a few Brea boosters who were mostly non-flyers, with the sole aim of encouraging the art and sport of aviation and the establishment of landing fields.

Hard and consistent work on the part of the promoters has resulted in a club of 65 wide-awake members, according to Mason, with a landing field secured, and a hundred pilots from all over California signed up for the meet on October 31 when the field will be turned over to the use of local and visiting pilots. The field, which has a main landing stretch 2000 feet long and 450 feet wide, and a hangar fitted to accommodate six ships of the Curtis J. N. type, is declared to

BEACH STREET PROJECTS ARE BEFORE BOARD

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 20.—Street proceedings are occupying much of the time of local trustees. Last night, proceedings were started which, it is expected, will result in the city starting preparations to pave a strip of land in Balboa from B street to L street. The ground was bought by the city from the Pacific Electric company some time ago.

According to a report given last night to the trustees, work on the improvement of the street is now being held up for two reasons. First, a Mrs. Ferguson has not yet decided to the city property which the city must have before it can pave the street. Instructions were given City Clerk V. A. Sebring to take up the matter of securing the deed with the title company, deposit the money and if possible, have the deed to the property before the regular meeting of the trustees next month.

The second matter which is delaying the street paving is that City Attorney Bishop has returned the deed to the property to the Pacific Electric company for revision. Bishop declared that the railroad company was limiting the use of the land to street purposes only. He proposed to have the clause eliminated which states that the land is to be used for street purposes only. An ordinance naming the street was passed. It was the second reading of the ordinance. The street has been named Central avenue as it is merely a continuation of that thoroughfare.

Other street matters were brought to the attention of the trustees last night when people in the western section of town complained about street conditions there and asked that the city take immediate steps to remedy the conditions. The city trustees appointed Walter C. Burris, property owner of Thirty-first street, as a committee of one to confer with property owners in his section and determine whether or not a crossing should be established across the Pacific Electric tracks.

The present method of getting in and out of the district is through 10-foot alleys, it was declared by Burris, who asked that the city either build a 20-foot street along the railroad tracks or open the crossing. The trustees were reluctant to open the crossing on account of additional danger. A crossing was also asked for Twenty-eighth street.

Pigeons Carry Sunday School Class Reports

FULLERTON, Oct. 20.—Sunday school reports via carrier pigeon was the method chosen by girls of the P. E. P. class of the Methodist church, who spent the week-end at the high school cabin near Lake Arrowhead. A. S. Redfern, who motored up with the group, took with him seven pigeons from his loft here. He released the pigeons at various times on Sunday and the bird which carried the attendance and offering record of the services held by the class made the journey in one hour and twenty minutes.

be laid out in an ideal manner for landing and taking off.

Plans for the air meet have reached the stage where Orange county residents can be promised a day crowded with thrills, according to Brea Air club members, who state that the entries already made in the various events are sufficient to fill the six hours originally laid out for the day's program.

REBELLION OF YOUTH PRAISED BY Y. SPEAKER

Foreseeing a surging power in the national youth movement, Gale Seaman, Pacific coast boys' work secretary, told the members of the Junior college "Y" club, at the city association building last night that great influence in the affairs of the nation is being exerted by students.

"The enthusiasm, spirit and rebellion of youth is necessary for the advance of a country from the old conservative policies in force," Seaman declared.

"By this I don't mean that the boy should burn his house down but it is a benefit to the nation to have the pep of unlearned youth bear on its destinies."

Seaman said that the strength of the youth movement was becoming more important. Students in practically all the colleges are discussing national abuses, he declared, adding that through their leadership as college men, they will be able to direct the country.

The part the international Y. M. C. A. movement is playing in encouraging the movement was pointed out. Seaman said that there are more than 700 colleges in the United States with "Y" groups. Thirty-six nations of the world are actively affiliated in the work, he said.

Before Seaman's address was given, a dinner was served to the college men. The meeting was the second regular gathering of the club presided over by Henrik Van Rensselaer, president. The cabinet organization in charge of plans for the ensuing year was announced. Committee chairmen were John McCoy, co-operation; Irwin Goddard, service; Alfred Ault, program, and Robert O'Brien, promotional.

Sentence Convict To Gallows Death

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 20.—Standing nervously in Judge Percy R. Kelly's court room, Tom Murray, Oregon convict, yesterday heard himself sentenced to be hanged on Friday, December 18. Murray was convicted of murdering John Sweeney, prison guard, in a sensational prison break, August 12. Will R. King, attorney for Murray, announced he would appeal the case to the supreme court.

Vigorous Food Is Needed In Winter

Quaker oats, starting an advertising campaign, has issued the following statement:

"Now comes the cooler days of autumn, with winter just around the corner—days of blustering winds bearing sometimes rain—days of wet feet, heavier clothing and changing temperature, bringing colds and lagrippe and sometimes pneumonia lurks in the background."

"Now is the time for vigorous food, for things to eat which build vitality, win and resistance to ill and ailments common to the changing season."

"Ask your doctor, 'What to eat?' Almost the first food he will name, for children, for women and for men alike, will be rolled oats."

"With all the vitality-building elements in them, just as nature grows them out of the sunshine, the rich earth and soft showers of summer, rolled oats not alone contain the elements which build vigor, but these elements come, in this food, unchanged—vital, quickly assimilated."

"Get down the Quaker oats package for a breakfast which does not overload digest the systems, but which brings to the quickly digested, readily assimilated food of the food elements which grow muscle, which give the blood richness for repairing tissues worn by the morning's play or work."

TWO ARE FINED

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 20.—Two men were fined $25 each in federal court here for defacing the monument at Gettysburg by writing their names with lead pencils. Twenty-seven other residents of different cities in the east are under indictment on the same charges.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. I refused. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 221 M. Marcellus Avenue, Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

"KERNELS" BY THE COLONEL

There was a time in this country when "family entrances" were quite an important factor to certain places of business but those days are gone and persons doing business must everywhere now must use the front door.

That is except business that is to be done with the Santa Ana police station. If, over a week-end or on a holiday, a man wants to report something to police station, he has to use a back door to do it, or use the telephone.

The front door and the side door of the city hall are locked tight over week-ends, on holidays and at night but for those who know it, there is a "family entrance" up the alley which leads to the police station, if you don't lose your nerve and keep looking for it.

Strangers in Santa Ana who naturally expect that the police station is in the city hall, as most are, are reminded of cross word puzzles and hide and seek games.

The station is right where it has been for years, but if you don't know the ropes around the city hall, just try and find it some dark night. You are getting close when you find yourself up a dark alley.

The police station is in keeping with Fourth street—dark and mysterious.

In order to reach the police station at night, a person first has to walk over the stones in the alley, then pass through a door which leads to a little room, not more than six feet by ten feet, then into another doorway which leads into a big room where officers are supposed to rest, or something, then through a third door into the station itself.

Sounds like the "crazy house" on the pike at Long Beach, eh? By the time you reach the hidden chamber you will have probably forgotten what you wanted to report, and in that case, all you have to do is start all over again.

A stranger in a hurry is about as much "out a' luck" as the bird who puts his neck in the slot machine and expects to "clean up."

CAN YOU IMAGINE
The Chamber of Commerce offering to erect a "Santa Ana" sign at Orana?

"Dear Colonel:—I know the traffic question of today is a preponderant one but don't you think the S. P. railroad could find some hour other than 3 a. m. to shoot their only train over the local tracks? As long as there is only one coming in here a day it seems as if they could arrange for it to arrive at some earthly hour, don't you think?—S."

Seen in this week's J. C. C. Boomer:—"Do you play golf? Yes? Then Monday night you will be given an opportunity to do your stuff."

Maybe the boys are going to use electric light bulbs for balls.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has invited the presidents of almost every organization in Santa Ana to a meeting to be held next week "for the purpose of developing a constructive program of civic improvement."—From Register.

The names of all the organizations were carried in the story which told of the proposed meeting, but look high and low and the city planning commission and the park commission of the city is not to be found among those invited.

PACT PROTECTS STATUS QUO OF THREE NATIONS MINIMUM WAGE IN CALIFORNIA MAY BE PERILED

PARIS, Oct. 20.—The Rhine pact, designed to bring an era of peace along the historic war zone of the Great German river and to prevent new wars between Germany and France, guarantees maintenance of the territorial status quo of Germany, France and Belgium, as well as the inviolability of the frontiers and the demilitarized zone along the Rhine.

The official text of the pact, concluded at Locarno's Epocaal publicity conference, was made public last night.

The text shows that Germany, Belgium and France reciprocally agree not to attack or invade each other's territory unless the Versailles treaty is violated. Even then, the incident must be referred to the League of Nations for adjudication before action can ensue.

Nations Joining in Pact
This pact was drawn by France, England, Belgium, Italy and Germany.

Should the League of Nations, after reference to it, or an alleged Versailles violation, find that the pact has been violated, then the signatory powers engage immediately to aid the attacked nation.

Germany must enter the League of Nations as a preliminary to operation of the new pact, which becomes effective only upon such entrance.

The British dominions and India are exempt from operation of the guarantee feature, but England itself is pledged to assist France and Belgium, should they be attacked by Germany.

At the same time, the Franco-German arbitration convention also was made public.

Commission of Conciliation
In the agreement, it is provided that differences which cannot be solved by diplomatic procedure or before The Hague court, to which the question may be submitted, shall be referred to a permanent international commission of conciliation.

Then there is a Belgian-German convention, identical in its language with the Franco-German document, while the arbitration agreements arranged for Germany and Poland and for Germany and Czechoslovakia are similar.

France concluded, too, with Poland and Czechoslovakia, treaties provided for mutual assistance in case of German aggression.

Governor Smith To Quit Politics

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Definite declarations that he will retire from public office and is not an active candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination were drawn from Gov. Alfred E. Smith yesterday.

"I said Saturday night I intended to retire to private life in New York and I meant just that," the governor snapped out, after he had been questioned for half an hour as to just what he meant. "Any man who comes to me and tells me that I have got to run again for this office will have his head eaten off. I can't continue on this job indefinitely. Is that plain enough?"

SEEK BURGLAR ON HORSEBACK AT PLACENTIA

A "burglar on horseback" is being sought by Orange county authorities in connection with the robbery of the home of W. J. Travlers, Kraemer and Madison avenues, Placentia, Monday night. A report of the burglary was made at the sheriff's office here at 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

Officers who investigated found a horse's tracks on the property and are of the opinion that the thief rode to the house on a horse. He entered the garage with a key, secured a hatchet and gained entrance to the house by prying open a rear window.

Two gold watches, an automatic pistol, an overcoat and five pins, four of which were University of California class and fraternity pins, were stolen, according to the report made to Sheriff Jernigan.

P. Y. Takenaga, Stanton resident, reported to the sheriff's office today that his house was entered last night while the family was away, and that a trunk containing citizenship papers, army discharge papers and other valuable papers was stolen.

Entrance into the house was made through a rear window after the screen had been pried off.

I. W. W. Convicts Refuse to Work

SAN QUENTIN, Oct. 20.—Fifteen I. W. W. convicts were put in solitary confinement at San Quentin penitentiary yesterday for refusal to work, prison authorities said. The convicts struck without riot or disorder, it was said, and will be kept in confinement until they agree to resume work.

SHIP MORE GRAPES

FRESNO, Oct. 20.—Grape shipments from the San Joaquin valley will exceed last year's shipments by at least 10,000 cars, according to estimates by federal market officials. More than 50,000 cars of juice and table stock have already been sent. Shipments are still hampered by a car shortage.

SAYS CAMPAIGN ISSUES TO BE WATER, POWER

Opening his campaign in Orange county for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate seat now occupied by Senator Samuel H. Clarke, formerly of the Ventura county superior court bench, told the members of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce last night that his campaign would be based principally upon issues of water and power development, especially as regards passage of the Swing-Johnson Boulder canyon dam bill, the construction of the All-American canal and an appropriation for the development of Orange county harbor at Newport Beach.

"The united demands of Southern California are required if these things are to come to pass," said Judge Clarke. His topic was "American Citizenship." The following are excerpts from his speech:

Need Organized Effort

"In the development of any country or community, organized effort is the only kind that makes for definite progress. The most splendid achievement of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce was the fact that 25 years ago it championed a free harbor for a free people and through government aid, built at San Pedro, a man-made harbor, which is now being administered by the city of Los Angeles as a trust for all of the Southland.

"So it is with you and the organization to which I now speak. A united effort and a proper presentation of the case will give to this wonderful county of Orange an outlet to the sea. The Newport harbor is entitled to your never-ceasing efforts and activity. It may be that the present generation will not appreciate the sacrifices which you make, but posterity will benefit and remain ever grateful to those who will undertake to lead in this splendid fight.

Issues Greater Than Men

"Issues are always greater than men. The united effort for human progress for the common weal, is after all, to be accomplished only through intelligent and consistent effort. The great demand for more power and for water and for the parched and arid lands of Southern California, gives impetus to all forward-looking men to cling to and to insist that a 600-foot dam at Boulder canyon and an All-American canal for Imperial county must and will be built. The provisions of the Swing-Johnson bill cover these questions and are entitled to the consideration, and I believe, the support, of every man who has his heart in the further development and progress of the great Southland."

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST PLANNED

To encourage public speaking and bring out new talent in that line, the junior chamber of commerce will sponsor two public speaking contests for which silver trophy cups will be offered as first prizes. The first contest, for which 10 members entered last night, will be held at the next regular meeting and center on the topic "Santa Ana, My Home Town." Speakers will be required to speak at least three minutes. Jack Wallace and Carl Mock, local real estate dealers, offered a cup to the prize winner.

Lew H. Wallace, pioneer protagonist for the development of Orange County Harbor, at Newport Beach, offered a handsome trophy cup to the winner of a public speaking contest on the subject "Why the Harbor Bond Issue Should Be Approved."

This contest will not be held until after the first of the year. The bond election has been set for April 7 and Wallace said he expected to secure much verbal ammunition for the campaign from the junior chamber of commerce speakers. Ten members entered the contest last night and the lists for both competitions still are open.

Junior Chamber Social Season to Open With Dance

The junior chamber of commerce members will attend a dinner-dance at the Balboa Palisades clubhouse the evening of October 31, as the opening affair of a busy winter social season. Dr. C. W. Johnson, chairman of the chamber's dancing committee, announced at the meeting last night. The dancing party will assume a Halloween motif and the management of the evening's menu, both in the matter of food and in music and appointments for the dancing, Dr. Johnson said.

PLEA MADE FOR AID IN ANNUAL CHEST DRIVE

Assistance in successfully completing the second annual campaign of the Santa Ana Community Chest association was requested from members of the junior chamber of commerce by William H. Spurgeon Jr., at the meeting of the junior chamber last night and there was a generous response to his plea for aid. A number of members signed cards by which they pledged themselves to devote a certain amount of time to canvassing for the chest.

Spurgeon announced that the drive would begin November 18, Monday, and that it was the earnest hope of the chest workers that the campaign be successfully concluded before the week was up.

Ridley Smith was named chairman of a committee to confer further with officers of the East Santa Ana Improvement association on the proposed location in that section of the city on a new Pacific Electric depot.

Arthur Blanding, L. R. Crawford, C. E. Long and Bruce Switzer were named by President Stanley Clem to serve on a committee to enter a junior chamber of commerce float in the annual Orange county Armistice day parade in Anaheim. Switzer said that the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce had appropriated $200 for the entry of a joint float and that the executive board of the junior chamber had accepted the offer. He said also that the city board of trustees was to be urged by the two organizations to enter a float as in the past all other Orange county cities but Santa Ana had been represented in the parade.

A brief report on the plans for the air meet to be held under the sponsorship of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at Martin's air field November 21, was made by Roy Lyon. Members of the junior chamber are to assist in policing the field, he said. A very attractive offer has been made for the concession privilege, it was reported. All indications are, according to Lyon, that the air meet will be a success.

CITE NEED OF ANNUAL CIVIC DISPLAY HERE

The need of some distinctly civic entertainment to attract visitors to Santa Ana during the winter, much in the same manner as the Pasadena Tournament of Roses and the San Bernardino Orange show function, was stressed at the meeting last night, in Ketter's cafe, of the junior chamber of commerce. The matter was broached by Secretary Bruce Switzer, who declared that one suggestion was for the entertainment to take on the nature of a grotesque parade, such as the Mummers produce annually in Philadelphia and which are very common in Continental cities. Under that plan, civic organizations would unite to enter floats, perhaps a paper mache dragon two blocks long, or a figure of Mr. Civic Pride, 10 feet high, in a parade which Switzer predicted would attract attention from the entire Southland and which, if made an annual affair, would prove an excellent advertising medium for Santa Ana.

It was said that further announcement concerning the plans, which at the present are distinctly in the embryo state, would be made soon.

SOCIAL CENTER
FOR MEXICANS
IS UNDER WAY
IN SANTA ANAPurpose to Furnish Whole-

Educate Foreign ElementCHURCHES BEHIND
PROPOSED ELEMENTMuch Enthusiasm Is Shown
And Necessity of Institution Realized by All

A social center for Mexicans to be known as "The Friendly Center," has been started in Santa Ana. It is in the heart of the Logan street Mexican district. The purpose of such a center is to furnish a place for wholesome recreation for the Mexican people.

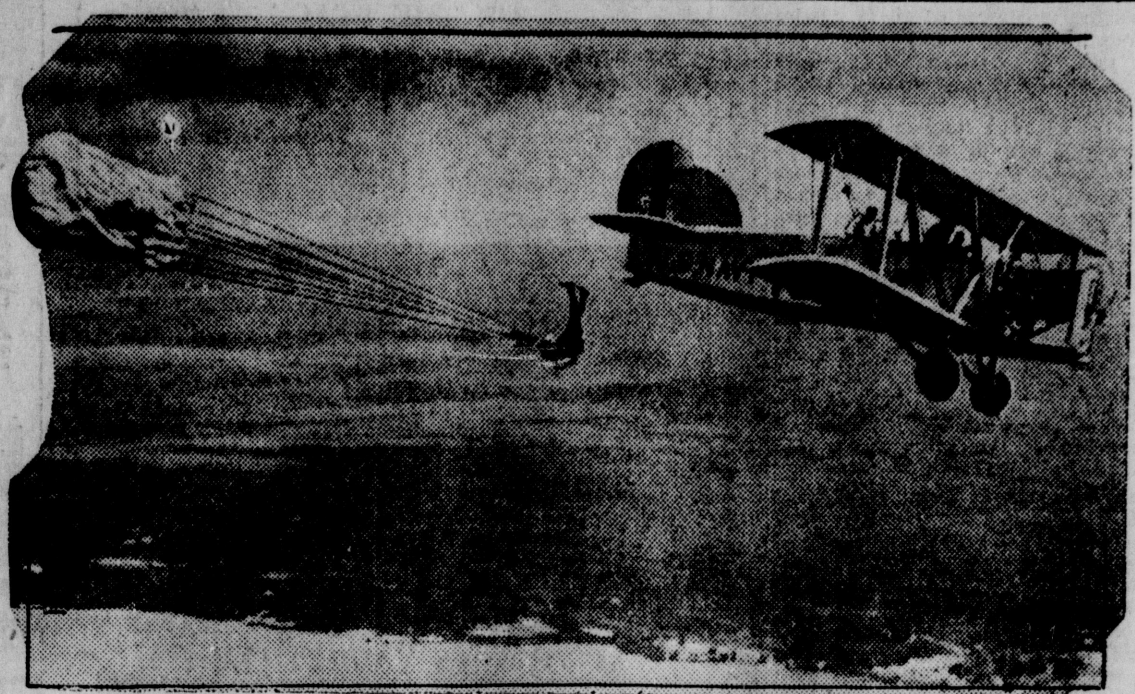

Many citizens of Santa Ana have long realized the need of such an institution. When the old Logan street school was abandoned, a group of persons asked the school board for permission to use the building for such a center. The school board granted the privilege.

The Rev. B. Garcia and Miss Davidson who initiated the work, have planned a constructive program. There are to be classes and clubs for adults as well as for boys and girls. Books and magazines in both English and Spanish are to be in the center for the use of all who may care to use them. Games of many kinds will be furnished. There are to be programs occasionally and music. In fact the center aims to give to the Mexicans of the Logan district a clean, well-lighted, warm place to spend their afternoons and evenings in wholesome activity. They are to feel that the place is theirs to enjoy and to be at home in.

Last week notices were sent out to the churches and to other organizations of the city to send representatives to a meeting to discuss working plans and possibilities of such a center. Organization and business not having been finished at the first meeting, a second was called. Many others who are friends of the Mexicans and who heard of the interesting project under way, attended the second meeting. Much enthusiasm was shown and much constructive planning was done. The officers and members of the committees are among the most prominent men and women in Santa Ana's business, professional, club and religious circles. They are:

President, A. H. Theal; first vice president, Mrs. C. F. Crose; second vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark; secretary, Miss Helen Walker; treasurer, Albert Hill; advisory committee, Kenneth Morrison, Lee Galloway, J. Russell Bruff, Mrs. L. Harter; standing committees, ways and means, C. M. Haldeman, chairman; Mrs. W. B. Tedford, S. M. Davis, J. A. Cranston, Mrs. C. F. Smith; education, program and work, R. C. Smedley, chairman, Mrs. W. Nicholson, Esther Henriksen, Mrs. L. Harter; publicity, Helen Walker, chairman, Terry Stephenson, the Rev. H. G. Burgess.

The meetings of the group are to be held the third Friday of each month. Anyone interested in the Mexican people and their problems is urged to attend. This is a civic movement to meet a civic problem. It is a big problem and there is a great deal of constructive work to be done. Every civic organization is

CROWDS ENJOY
FIRE LADDIES'
ANNUAL DANCE

Yes sir, it was some dance, that annual affair given by the Santa Ana firemen at Central station, last night. They came early and they stayed late and they didn't want to go home at all.

Huddled inside the Central fire station, Third and Sycamore streets, and on a portion of a slick street directly in front of the fire hall, 800 men and women gathered last night in what was declared to have been the best firemen's ball ever held in Santa Ana.

They "Charlestoned" all over the street and those who knew not the dance, practiced it just the same. Others, who were just learning, limbered up for it by sliding down the poles from the second floor of the fire station.

And there was not a boy in town who pulled a fire box and sent the department out on a false alarm, as generally is the case when the firemen are entertaining.

The music, furnished by Chapman's orchestra, was much enjoyed, and cries of "more, more," came after each selection.

Punch was served the visitors throughout the evening, Chief John Luxembourger wielding the ladle during most of the evening. The entire house was thrown open from top to bottom and visitors inspected it throughout, from the alley in the rear to the firemen's kitchen on the second floor.

Big lights were strung high above the pavement outside the building, casting their glow upon some of the most expert "Charlestoning" ever displayed in Santa Ana.

Among the guests of the firemen were members of the city council, who attended the dance after the regular meeting of the council, in the city hall. Ed Vegely, city clerk, was another guest.

expected to send an official representative if it cares to do so. The next meeting will be held November 20.

The "Jim Jinx" show at the Y.M.C.A. next Friday will be a notable event, according to Physical Director R. R. Russick, who has the program in hand.

The athletic features are to be greatly augmented by the aid of Lions club talent, headed by the Lions quartet and Carson Smith. The quartet is to appear in a specialty number, which will furnish fun and harmony. Smith will present some of his popular English monologues. The local Lions club is supporting the entertainment on account of the club's special interest in the Lions lodge, built last summer at Oseola, for the Orange county Y. M. C. A. boys' camp.

Russick promises at least 80 minutes of excellent entertainment for the occasion, and if all the features develop as they are in prospect, it may even run to 90 minutes, he says.

The entertainment is open to the general public, with a small charge for admission, the proceeds being devoted to the Lions lodge fund and to the motion picture machine fund, in equal parts.

Vocal Numbers
Features of J. C.
Session Program

Two very pleasing vocal numbers, one of them in the nature of an encore, were given last night at the meeting of the junior chamber of commerce by Miss Genevieve Butler, soprano. Lyle "Andy" Anderson, tenor, accompanied at the piano by E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist, sang a "Smile" song.

The short entertainment program preceded the address on "American Citizenship," by ex-Judge Robert Clarke, who was introduced by William Iverson, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Following the address by the speaker of the evening, brief remarks were made by D. Eymann Huff, of Orange; C. E. Utt, of Tustin; Willard Smith, of Orange; Dr. C. D. Ball, W. B. Williams, T. E. Stephenson, C. N. Mozley, W. C. Jerome and others.

PASS $1 BILLS
RAISED TO $10
IN SOUTHLAND

Merchants of Santa Ana yesterday were warned, through the Santa Ana police, to watch for $1 bills which have been altered to represent $10 bills. The warning was received by the police from the U. S. secret service, which is making an effort to capture a man who is said to be passing the raised paper money.

The bills were altered by means of what is known as scratch work. The numeral "1" on the $1 bills was erased and the number "10" inserted with pen and ink. The words "one dollar" are erased, but no attempt had been made to insert the words "ten dollars."

All $1 bills bear a picture of Washington, while on the $10 bills is the picture of Jackson.

The man who is alleged to be passing the raised currency is said to operate in a small car, generally going into the smaller places of business in Southern California. He is approximately 23 years of age, and five feet, seven inches in height.

Expect Arrests To Solve Robberies

Los Angeles police of the San Pedro division announced yesterday the arrest of three men, which they expect will clear up a number of robberies reported in and near San Pedro and in Orange county during the last several months.

Two of the prisoners are Frank Turvey, 27, and E. M. Smith, 23, privates in the third coast artillery regiment at Fort McArthur, the third is Jerry Moore, 26, a druggist of Long Beach.

The soldiers are charged with burglary and the druggist with receiving stolen property.

JUVENILE WORK IS DISCUSSED
BY S. A. KNIGHTSSpeaker Scores System of Preserving Records of Detention Home Inmates

Methods of handling juvenile offenders so as to bring about the best possible results to individuals concerned as well as to society, were discussed at a special meeting of the juvenile committee of the Santa Ana Knights of the Round Table, held yesterday afternoon in James' cafe. Dr. James Workman, chairman of the committee, presided over the meeting.

Explaining the purpose of the meeting, Dr. Workman called attention to the fact that while judges, ministers, educators and others are bawling the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency, comparatively few citizens are interested in our juvenile problems; in fact, not a few citizens adopt the "touch me not" attitude, while others, depending upon courts and detention homes, think that the future welfare of juvenile offenders is none of their business.

He predicted that if the juvenile problem received the same attention from school authorities, P. T. A. organizations, service clubs, women's clubs and other civic bodies as other community undertakings, there would be a decided improvement in the situation.

Records Are Preserved.
The present system of preserving records of juveniles who have been inmates in detention homes was brought up for discussion by Dr. W. A. Flood. According to information received by the committee, one of the first questions that is asked a new prisoner sent to Folsom or San Quentin is the name of the detention home where he might have been an inmate. This question, in itself is an implication that an inmate of a juvenile home would sooner or later graduate to the larger detention institution, furnishes much food for thought, Dr. Flood remarked.

It also was brought out that there have been instances where a zealous attorney, seeking to discredit the character of a party to a civil or criminal action, has resorted to juvenile home records.

"Often the victim of unfavorable circumstances, the inmate of a juvenile home carries with him the stigma of a criminal record for life! And then we wonder why we have such a juvenile problem when in going to extend the erring boy or girl a helping hand, we do our best to keep alive the record of his or her mistakes."

Suggest Joint Meeting.

Following further discussion on the subject, it was suggested to call a joint conference to which persons interested in juvenile problems would be invited. Among those named to attend the conference were J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, and chairman of the county juvenile committee; Mrs. W. B. Tedford, member of the county juvenile committee, and chairman of the department of juvenile problems, fourth district P. T. A.; Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, president of the fourth district, P. T. A.; Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of Santa Ana City federation, P. T. A.; and William L. McKay, circulation manager, Santa Ana Register, boys welfare worker.

OLDEST PALM IN SANTA

MONUMENT TO PIONEERTree Planted in 1876 by
Mrs. S. J. Andrews Now
Is 67 Feet High"Poems are made by fools like me
But only God can make a tree."

Man's aid is sometimes required in the making of a tree, which only adds to the wonder of it. And when someone is singled out to help a tree grow it is something beautiful which should add to the respect given such a person.

Such a person was Mrs. Sarah Jane Andrews, who planted the first palm tree in Santa Ana. Just planting the tree did not end Mrs. Andrews' share in the work of helping the tree grow and reach the majestic proportions that it now has acquired. For it has grown until it has reached a height of 67 feet. Anyone wishing to see for himself need only go to St. Ann's Inn, for there stands the tree that is the oldest and the tallest palm in Santa Ana. The tree was planted in 1876 and probably was brought from an Anaheim nursery, according to George W. Miner, who has lived in Santa Ana for more than 50 years.

Fred Rafferty, pioneer, states that about 30 years ago another variety of fan palm tree was brought to Santa Ana and now is a popular variety. It is the fan palm that is a native of Mexico, found mostly along the western coast.

CONDITIONS IN STUDY COURSES
CHINA TOLD BY ARE DISCUSSED
Y.M.C.A. TALKER BY SCHOOL MEN

Conditions in China and the causes of the present unrest were the subject of an address by S. M. Davis last night before the Success club, of the Y. M. C. A.

In a scholarly and impressive manner, Davis traced the history of China's international relations for the last 200 years, showing the background of the present difficulties, and of the unfortunate situation which that land now occupies. He pointed out the unfair tactics which the great powers have employed in dealing with the Chinese, and made an appeal for fair play and honesty in our dealings with the nation.

The spectacle of Christian missionaries, trying to teach the Chinese people to live by the Golden Rule, when their own governments, supposedly Christian, were oppressing China in a variety of ways, seemed to Mr. Davis to be quite unreasonable.

The Success club is an organization of young men which meets each Monday evening for dinner, followed by Bible study and the consideration of topics of current interest.

The junior college Y. M. C. A. held its regular meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building last night, having as their guest Gale Seamans, regional secretary of the national council in student work. Mr. Seamans addressed the young men on the problems of the college Y. M. C. A., and conducted a special meeting of their cabinet for plans and program for the year's work. The "J. C. Y." meets on the first and third Monday evenings of the month in the city Y. M. C. A. building.

Courses of study in the elementary schools to conform to the new school law of 1925, having particular reference to time allotments among the different subjects outlined therein, were discussed at some length by the school men attending the superintendents' convention, held last week in Pasadena, according to word brought back by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

How Law Is Amended.

The new law amends Section 1665 of the political code, so as to read: "The courses of study in the elementary schools of each city, county, and city and county, shall include instruction in the following prescribed branches in the several grades in which each may be required in the course of study adopted in the pursuance of this section, viz:

"Reading, writing, spelling, language study, arithmetic, geography, history of the United States and California, civics, including the constitution of the United States, music, art, training for healthful living, morals and manners, and such other studies not to exceed three as may be prescribed by the board of education of the city, county, or city and county; provided, at least 50 per cent of the school day must be devoted to reading, writing, spelling, language study, and arithmetic."

Reduce Number of Subjects.

It was brought out at the convention that the intent of the new law is to reduce the number of specific subjects from the overwhelming total of 31 subjects to a maximum of 15 in the elementary schools.

Local boards of education are permitted to add three other subjects. It was stressed, however, by the school superintendents attending the convention that there is no intention that any subject matter of recognized educational value is to be eliminated from the elementary schools by enforcement of the new law. It does, however, place upon the local school authorities the responsibility of reorganizing many of the courses of study so that provision is made for re-orientation of subject matter into larger units. This reorganization, it was explained, is in the interest of economy and efficiency of learning on part of the pupils.

Indorsement of resolutions adopted by the National Education association urging congress to forbid the interstate transportation, by any means, of all literature, pictures, tokens, etc., that may not be legally carried at present by the U. S. mails, is voiced in resolutions adopted by the school superintendents at their convention in Pasadena, according to word brought back by J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools. The school men asked that the California senators and representatives in congress give this matter their earnest consideration.

Recording its findings, the convention went on to say: "We believe that the outstanding problems of education, both in school and in home, is the inculcation of such ideals, habits, appreciations, and attitudes, as will result in conduct conforming to high ethical standard; that this problem cannot be solved by text book instruction in 'moral and manners,' but that it requires the serious study and co-operation of home, church and school in its solution.

"We, therefore, approve of all constructive efforts in the development and use of moral codes for improving Sunday schools, for providing opportunities for week-day religious education, for morally cleaner theaters, and for removing the temptations of obscene literature."

BOY KILLED BY RAILWAY TRAIN
IDENTIFIED AS
ANAHEIM YOUTHCompanions of Runaway
Too Frightened to Report
Accident to City OfficersAMBULANCE WRECKED
IN AUTO COLLISIONWas Attempting to 'Hop'
Car to San Francisco
When Fell Under Wheels

The youth whose life was snuffed out by a railroad train in Glendale, Saturday, as he was trying to "hop" a train, was a runaway Anaheim boy, Roy Holmes, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holmes, of 1118 West Center street, Anaheim.

The heartbroken father made the identification early yesterday after neighbors had called his attention to newspaper accounts of an accident in which an unidentified lad had been fatally injured.

The complete story of the accident was learned when the youth's three companions, William Huarte of 411 North Olive street, and Fred Easton and William Adams of the Stewart apartments, appeared at the Anaheim police station at noon yesterday. The youths excused their silence by declaring that they were badly frightened when the accident occurred.

Tried To Catch Train

According to the boys' story, they were on their way to Venice when they met young Holmes, who told them that he was going to San Francisco. The three youths say that they tried to persuade Holmes to abandon his proposed trip and come to Venice with them for an outing. On his refusal, they agreed to accompany him to Glendale, where he hoped to catch a train for the northern city.

In attempting to catch a moving train, the Holmes youth slipped and fell beneath the wheels. The boys' three companions, horrified at their friend's fate, hurriedly left the scene of the accident.

Ambulance Is Wrecked

Other witnesses to the accident called an ambulance. On its way to a hospital the ambulance was badly wrecked in a collision with another machine and it was necessary to call another car to carry the dying youth.

According to physicians, the ambulance accident did not hasten the Anaheim boy's death, as he was dying when placed in the machine.

The father declares that his son left home early Saturday morning, leaving a note asking his parents not to worry. The parents did not see newspaper stories of the accident and did not know of it until neighbors, suspecting that the victim might be the Anaheim boy, asked the father to go to the Glendale funeral parlors.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Lifting the Hat

When Knighthood was in flower, all knights appeared in public in full armor. Only when among friendly assemblies, did they remove their helmets. This gave rise to the statement, "I am safe among my friends."

Out of this grew the custom of taking off one's hat to a friend. Later, we remove our hats as a token of respect for the ladies.

Since taking the hat off signifies friendship for and appreciation of someone or something it is not uncommon to hear a man say "I take my hat off to that auto tire," meaning Diamonds, of course.

We do more than take our hat off. We personally guarantee them—and are ahead of the game in doing that. For it's easy to do something that isn't required to be done. Diamonds deliver, if you know what we mean.

Stage and Screen

YOST THEATER

No more dramatic and convincing story has been brought to the screen in some time, nor one told with greater clarity than B. P. Schulberg's new picture, "The Triflers," adapted from the novel by Frederick Orin Bartlett, now being shown at the Yost theater. Thousands of people, read the story of the beautiful girl, whose corroded viewpoint so cheapens life, and her eventual capitulation and admission that after all, "love is all" when the right man came along. It made a remarkable story, the book reaching the best seller class, and this reviewer ventures to say that its success as a picture will be even wider.

Mae Busch plays the part of Marjory Stockton, Frank Mayo is Monte Covington, a blase young trifler who succumbs to the charm and beauty of the girl, Elliott Dexter, in one of the finest roles of his career, Lee Moran, adds his sense of comedy in a fine part, Eva Novak, beautiful and charming, Lloyd Whitlock and Dorothy Reyer play the more important roles.

CONNELL'S COMEDIANS

"Peg O' My Heart" as presented by the Connell Comedians at the Temple theater is proving to be one of the best attractions presented in Santa Ana in the line of spoken drama. Mr. Connell is a strong believer in clean shows and every play selected is carefully considered and at all times the trade of children is solicited. Saturday and Sunday afternoons are devoted to special matinees, and Connell has placed the price in range of all children. A full crew of expert men are at work constructing special scenery for next week's production. Every show is presented as the script calls. Connell said, "No detail is too small to escape skilled attention. Without doubt as soon as Santa Ana finds out the true merit of this splendid organization based at the Temple theater are going to be at a premium so be sure and ask your neighbor what they think of the Connell Comedians."

WEST COAST-WALKER

A photoplay in which the U. S. government itself took an active part furnishing background, local color and supervision, is "The Midshipman." Ramon Novarro's first starring vehicle which closes at the West Coast-Walker to-night, is a story of life in the Naval academy at Annapolis, Uncle Sam's training grounds for future Perrys and Paul Jones. The story, written especially for the screen by the noted scenario writer and weaver of film tales, Cary Wilson, is a romantic drama. It is chock-full of incidents, the kind that commands the attention of all theatergoers. There are fights, dress parades, college initiations, pursuits on high seas with U. S. destroyers as the pursuers. There is also a scene of the graduation exercise at which President Coolidge presided.

On the same bill, Fanchon and Marco present their most spectacular, sensational and delightful revue, "Middies in Mandalay," which surpasses the former productions of Fanchon and Marco in splendor, size, costuming and sensation. The scene presents the forward deck of the U. S. S. Idaho. There are two 16-inch guns which, at the final, swing over the audience and fire a broadside at the people—smoking guns returning to their original position. The costumes of the oriental girls swarming aboard ship are gorgeous. Those appearing in this massive production include Joe Fong, noted Chinese tenor; Perrini Brothers, Suzette, the University of Southern California Seven, Snappy Perry and Gene Gore.

Starting tomorrow for two days is a five-act vaudeville bill and Jacqueline Logan in "If Marriage Falls," supported by Clive Brook, Belle Bennett, Jean Hersholt and Cissy Fitzgerald.

The Elinore Jackson trio head the vaudeville bill in "The Flirt." Emile Edouard, the master of shadowplay offers a novelty act that is bound to please. Giddy and Giddy offer "X Puzzles" which has been a sensation of the present day stage. Pender Sisters will delight with clever songs and dances. Closing the new bill is Anita, the "Up in the Air Girl."

"CUNNINGHAM'S CALIFORNIANS" COMING TO YOST

Coming to the Yost theater on Thursday as the headline attraction for three days are "Cunningham's Californians," a bevy of beautiful and talented girl dancers with a fine cast of principal players, including Hal Van Rensselaer, Edith Griffith, Charles Cunningham and Marguerite and Le Claire and the sixteen "Lady, Be Good Girls."

This ensemble of song and dance artists has been acclaimed at all of their previous engagements as the finest example of a chorus composed of American girls. Their terpsichorean work is typical of a new era in American amusement, originated by George Cunningham, assistant to Edward Royce who produced and directed such famous musical comedy hits as "Sally," "Irene," "Good Morning, Dearie," "Ziegfeld Follies," "No, No, Nanette," and many others.

The Cunningham girls, products of California's golden sunshine, were carefully selected from among hundreds of dancing school graduates and then trained in the new technique before being presented in "Lady, Be Good," the sensational New York musical comedy success. They appear here in their initial tour of the country after the close of "Lady, Be Good," at the Mason theater, Los Angeles.

Patrons of all that is beautiful and finished in the dancing art will see something entirely new and unique when they view "Cunningham's Californians." Their grace, ability, beauty and attraction has made them overnight one of the most popular headline acts in vaudeville today.

The entire production is very elaborately staged from the scenic, lighting, costume and pulchritude viewpoint.

WEST END THEATER

"I'm through with you! I never want to see your face again!" In "The Lady," Norma Talmadge's latest starring vehicle, Norma is deserted and otherwise mistreated by her husband, a role played by Wallace MacDonald.

And that's somewhat of a new experience for Norma, who has never had such a strange role before on the screen. Married to a snob, Norma is thrown aside for a woman of greater social position. And, bereft of both husband and baby, she enters upon a career which will arouse the greatest curiosity of every woman.

"The Lady" is a story of life in the theatrical and social world of London and Monte Carlo and amidst the apaches of France. The action ranges from the Gibson Girl and Florida period of 1900 to the stirring times of the World War and the wild post-armistice days in France.

OLDEST PALM IS MONUMENT TO PIONEER

history is the one at Old Town, San Diego, credited in tradition as having been planted in 1769 by Father Junipero Serra. It is a foreign variety of date palm brought, planted and cared for by one of California's greatest characters, Father Serra. Perhaps in time the tree in Santa Ana, that was planted so long ago by Mrs. Andrews, will be a monument to the early days of Santa Ana, just as the one in San Diego is now a monument to the days of the missions in California.

"Santa Ana is unusually fortunate in the fact that nearly every known variety of palm will grow here," said Rafferty, "for it is one of the most beautiful of the trees that grow and in California is so inseparable from all of the traditions of the state that no one can imagine California without its palms."

In Santa Ana are a number of tall palm trees that go back several decades into Santa Ana history. One of these is located on West First street, where for years it stood in the Hell yard. Another is located in P. A. Robinson's yard, at the corner of East Washington and Spurgeon streets. Two other palms that rival the St. Ann's "palo alto" are the two in the yard of the C. W. Bowers home, at 2010 North Main.

In recent years there has been a new palm introduced into Santa Ana known as the coconos plumosa, which bids fair to become one of the most popular of the show varieties in the city. This palm can be found along the streets near the courthouse, in front of the high school, around the Christian Science church, and in the 900 block on French street. It also is scattered over the city at many private homes.

In Santa Barbara there are gardens where nearly every variety of palm can be found. In a few gardens are as many as 60 different kinds. Only a small number of these are suitable for general cultivation. There are some rare varieties, such as a Japanese kind, which cannot live here at all unless carefully protected from both frost and the hot summer sun.

WHITTIER NEXT ON S. A. FOOTBALL PROGRAM

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Those fans who have a memory long enough and sufficient interest to take a razz at the critics, can have a winter sport of poking fun at the experts who told last spring how the teams were going to finish in the American league pennant races.

There are a few who are qualified to say that they picked the Washington Senators and the Pittsburgh Pirates to win the pennants, but there isn't a writer in captivity who came within a mile of naming correctly the positions in which the teams would finish.

The New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Robins were the most conspicuous examples of upsets. The collapse of the Chicago Cubs and the reformation of the Boston Braves were also the surprises that a Biblical prophet hardly could have foretold.

The Yankees and the Robins were second place clubs in 1924 that chased the Senators and the Pirates right up to the wire. It was perhaps only natural to figure that they would be prominent contenders in the 1925 races.

The Yankees were strengthened by the recovery of Earl Combs, a far young outfielder, who was out of the game most of the 1924 season with a broken ankle and by the addition of Urban Shocker, rated as one of the best pitchers in the American league.

The Robins had intact the strong team of 1924 with "Dazzy" Vance and Burly Grimes heading the pitching staff of more than the average strength.

No one knew that Babe Ruth would be out of the game so long from illness and that he would stray away from the path so far that he would have to be suspended and fined $5000. No one knew that Joe Dugan would go out with a trick knee and that codd and Pipp would slow up so much that they would have to be replaced with rookies.

No one knew that Burly Grimes would have such a bad season with the Robins and that Bill Danks, one of the aces of the pitching staff, would give up baseball for real estate business.

It was no great surprise that the Senators and the Pirates won the pennants. The Senators were known to be a great ball club, but those who had their doubts did not figure that Walter Johnson would have such a big season and that Stanley Coveleski and "Dutch" Reuther, two veteran cast-offs, would stage such sensational comebacks.

If the Senators were not a surprise, the Philadelphia Athletics certainly were. Only two bad strokes of luck prevented Connie Mack's team from giving the Senators a harder fight.

Joe Hauser, Mack's regular first baseman, broke his knee and was out of the game all season, and ammy Gray, the most sensational pitcher of the early season, broke a finger on his pitching and was out of the game for six weeks.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have been a threat for so many years that no one should have succumbed to heart failure with any came up from the cellar and staged their successful drive for pennant.

The Pirates won the championship by eight and a half games over the Cardinals and they might not have won it if the New York Giants hadn't run into a deplorable string of injuries that had them laid up all season.

When the Chicago Cubs secured Grimm, Maranville and Coope, from the Pittsburgh Pirates, the critics called Bill Killifer sage and branded Bill McKeechle a boob.

Yet, with their added strength,

BALL PLAYING 'AUTHORS' MAY BE UNDER BAN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Action against player-writers and a proposal to close the regular plying season earlier will be considered by the majority league club owners at their annual meeting in December.

After the umpires had complained during the world's series about criticism appearing in articles under the names of Bill McKeechle, "Mud-dy" Ruel and Roger Peckinpaugh, Commissioner Landis expressed expressed himself as being opposed to the literary activities of players and promised to give the subject serious attention.

The commissioner is expected to have some remedy ready to propose to the club owners of the two major leagues at their next meetings. The club owners, feeling that the player-writer question is one directly in the hands of the commissioner are not much interested in it, but they are interested seriously in the suggestion that has been made to close the season earlier and avoid the weather gamble in the world's series. It has been suggested that the championship season be ended late in September and that the first game of the world's series be played October 1.

The Baseball Writers' association will also take up the player-writer question, as it concerns the members of the association.

Government Gets Big Cut On Series

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The world's series netted the government $118,285.40 in admission taxes, the internal revenue bureau announced today.

Additional taxes will be collected from ticket "brokers" and from players, managers and owners in income taxes.

The Cubs went so badly that two managers, Killifer and "Rabbit" Maranville, were dropped, and the club dropped from sixth in 1924 to last place in 1925.

Under the inspiring leadership of Dave Bancroft and some fine pitching, the Boston Braves pulled a surprise by jumping from last place into fifth position and Rogers Hornsby pulled the Cards up from sixth place to fourth place.

Eddie Collins did some fine work also by bringing the White Sox up from the cellar to fifth place. George Sisler also moved up a notch with the St. Louis Browns from fourth place to third place, replacing Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers.

URBAN SHOCKER BIG TRADING ASSET IN BASEBALL MART

GASTON GIARD BUSH SHOCKER

Pitcher Urban Shocker of the New York Yankees has been one of the best trading assets in baseball.

It is questionable if ever a club got more out of one player than St. Louis did out of Shocker.

The husky spitballer has been a valuable commodity coming and going. He has figured in two of the most unusual trades in baseball.

Back in 1918 New York made a trade with St. Louis for Derrill Pratt and Eddie Plank. The Yankees wanted a hard-hitting second baseman and Pratt was the only one available in the trade mart.

As a matter of fact the trade involved Pratt only, as Plank never reported, retiring from the game.

So in reality for Pratt New York gave five players and much money. One of the players was Urban Shocker.

From the very start Shocker was a big winner for the Browns. In his first year he won six and lost five and bettered that mark each succeeding season.

During four of his years with the Browns he won 20 or more games. His best season was 1921, when he won 27 and lost only 12.

Last winter, when the Yankees were on the hunt for pitching material, it was rumored that Shocker was on the market if any club was willing to offer something equal in return.

Manager Miller Huggins decided that Shocker, with a hard-hitting club like the Yanks back of him, ought to be a big winner.

After much dickering the New York club agreed to give St. Louis three players in return, the Veteran Joe Bush and two youngsters, Gaston and Giard.

Many thought Bush for Shocker would have been a pretty even trade, but the Browns held the whip hand and got the two youngsters thrown in.

The Shocker, who had pitched so brilliantly for St. Louis for many years, made it possible for the team to collect some first-class material in return when he departed.

Instead of one regular in Shocker, the trade made it possible for the Browns to add three first-string pitchers to its staff.

Bush has pitched well, on a par with Shocker. It has been about a standoff between the two. But in addition, Gaston and Giard have won their spurs as regulars.

J. C. TO HAVE TRACK TEAM FOR DISTANCE

Plans for developing a cross-country team of distance runners at the Santa Ana Junior college are being encouraged by Coach Graham Harris.

Practical assurance has been given that the marathon event will be held in the junior college conference track meet to be held here next spring.

Already twelve men have signed up with Harris to practice for the Santa Ana cross-country team. A course has been laid out over four miles at Marcy Heights in the Lemmon Heights district. The squad is to work out on the course about three afternoons each week.

Distance runners out for the team include Robert O'Brien, Don Squires, Herbert Earel, Robert Vawter, Russell Kokk, Frank Labucherie, Carl Weise, Allen Goddard, Everett Durkee, Edwin Stauss, Emerson Biggs and Craig Lewis.

An interclass race with three medal awards to the winners will be held the last week in November, Coach Harris said. It is also being urged that the Santa Ana tracksters form a team to enter the Occidental invitation run held annually in December.

Promising material is at hand here for a crack team with such men as O'Brien, Squires and Lewis out. Robert Vawter, premier distance man, will be ineligible until next semester because he is taking a post-graduate course in high school. However, some of the best runners of the county high schools are enlisted for the new event.

LOCALS TRAVEL TO PLAY POETS NEXT SATURDAY

Winterburn Gives Team Day Off As Reward for Showing Against Hares

With a day's recess, the first of the current football season, behind them, Coach Charlie Winterburn's Santa Ana high school varsity resumed work this afternoon for its second highly important Coast Preparatory league of the 1925 campaign. This will take Santa Ana to the city for the first time, the Poets being carded to meet Whittier high school at Whittier Saturday.

Winterburn gave his entire squad a vacation yesterday. The husky little mentor had a twofold purpose in granting his charges this brief recess. The afternoon's grace from the strenuous training routine was as much a reward for the team's good and game showing against the powerful Long Beach eleven which was defeated, 6 to 0, at Poly field last Friday as to allow the first string a chance to recuperate from the bangs and knocks that are bound to come in such a hard contest.

Chunky "Chuck" was highly pleased at the way his men conducted themselves under Long Beach's fire. It was really Santa Ana's initial test against a high class prep eleven and the men, all of them, showed they were capable of playing intelligent football. They held the Jackrabbits helpless until the final quarter when the visitors found a hole between left tackle and left guard that they penetrated for two first downs, their only gains of appreciable distance during the entire afternoon.

Selway Gets Praise
Ralph Selway, the blond-haired substitute who was forced to go in at a tough spot when Harvey Durkee, Winterburn's regular quarterback was declared ineligible at the eleventh hour, showed he has the makings of an acceptable signal-screamer.

Selway entered the contest with a crippled right arm and he was under orders to let all the Long Beach punts fly. Selway thought there might be a chance of a fumble. With Durkee out, Poly would have been up against it had Selway been injured. Jerry Heard, the star center, would have been forced to come out of the line to play quarter and Jerry's first experience as a football Napoleon came in practice two days before the Long Beach affair.

"I told Selway to use his own judgment on those kicks just so he didn't fumble them and the kid did his stuff," Winterburn said. "He did as he was instructed and I have no fault to find with the way he handled the team. We may have looked bad to the public in that first quarter when Long Beach had us kicking out of our own territory but if the public has to blame someone I'll take the responsibility."

Poets Loom Strong
That Santa Ana will find plenty of competition next Saturday is evidenced by the showing the Poets made in the Pasadena Pasadena school to a 0 to 0 score. It's been a long time since Santa Ana won from Pasadena so Whittier must be stronger than usual to hold the Crown City outfit scoreless.

Elliott Best, the junior college line star, scouted the game for Poly and he said Whittier had all the better of the contest. The Poets, he declared, have a powerful line, averaging from tackle to tackle, close to 300 pounds. The ends are smaller as are the backs. Pasadena's Fullback Partridge who weighs close to 190, Partridge was injured early in the Pasadena game so Best didn't get much of a line on his line punching prowess.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 20.—Jack Britton, former welterweight champion of the world, is determined to fight.

He is accused of fighting an officer at Coconut Grove when arrested on a charge of reckless driving. He resisted arrest and told the officer who pulled a gun to "go ahead and shoot."

It took three policemen to get Britton to the station house. His case was set for hearing but he received a continuance.

LeFebvre Earns Fullback Job On Trojan Varsity

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Henry ("Frenchy") LeFebvre has won the regular position at fullback on the University of Southern California football team, Coach Howard Jones announced today.

Jones refused to comment on any other changes which might be made. LeFebvre starred in the Stanford game last Saturday, and earned his place as a regular on the varsity.

Billy Evans Says

Professional football, by the way, is becoming a bugaboo to certain colleges.

While the pro game is growing in popularity, I seriously doubt if it will ever vie with the crowds that see the big college games.

Football is a college sport. The college spirit and rivalry between the contesting teams are what give it color, make it.

Take the case of "Red" Grange. He is the most talked-about player in the game. Football fans everywhere are thrilled by the mere mention of his name.

The Illinois star is the greatest drawing card in football. He is the Babe Ruth of the gridiron when it comes to packing them in at the gates.

When Illinois plays Pennsylvania at Philadelphia shortly the Penn stadium will be packed to the extent of 50,000, and Grange will be the eyeore of all eyes.

While Grange is primarily the magnet, yet the result as a means for an east and west comparison as well as interest in whether Penn will be able to stop Grange, also play a big part.

Grange graduates from Illinois this fall. If he should join a western pro team, say Chicago, and went to play Philadelphia, a crowd of 10,000 would be considered a mammoth gathering.

EVENING SALUTATION

Through the harsh noises of our day
A low, sweet prelude finds its way;
Through clouds of doubt, and creeds of fear,
A light is breaking, calm and clear;
That song of love, now low and far,
Ere long shall swell from star to star!
That light, the breaking day, which tips
The golden-spined apocalypse.

—John G. Whittier.

NO ROOM FOR A "HOLLER"

Probably high school and college students need to be told oftener than older folk that it is easy to "holler," and it is just as easy to "holler," sometimes, when there is nothing to "holler" about as it is when there is.

This observation was induced by an investigation on the part of a member of The Register force a few days ago into the eligibility status of a high school football player, a promising young athlete named Durkee. Durkee was declared ineligible to play on the Santa Ana team this year. Whereupon came a great roar from numerous individuals, who, without stopping to investigate, immediately concluded that a great wrong had been done Santa Ana. The gnashing of teeth was audible.

It seems that Durkee lived at Newport Beach, a part of Santa Ana high school district, last year. By his own choice, he, a resident of Santa Ana High school district, went to Huntington Beach High school. This September he changed his mind, and entered Santa Ana High school, and on the supposition that he was eligible to play he was given a regular position on the team. Who questioned his eligibility is not the question at issue. If he was ineligible, the question should have been raised by none sooner than by Santa Ana. However, it appears that the question was raised elsewhere, and was passed upon by an official of the California Interscholastic Federation.

A lot has been said about what the rules say and what they don't say, so just to get the record straight, let us quote the rules governing the case:

"E. No pupil shall take part in any game or contest under the auspices of this federation who has not been a member of that high school for at least ten weeks of the semester immediately preceding. This rule does not apply to pupils entering from a grammar school or junior high school."

"F. A pupil who is compelled to transfer from one high school to another must have been eligible under the rules of the C. I. F. in the school from which he transferred, and must bring evidence that he was compelled to transfer on account of a change of residence of his legal parent or guardian."

Young Durkee had not been in Santa Ana High school for ten weeks. He was not compelled to leave Huntington Beach High school "on account of change of residence of his legal parent or guardian," for his parents have not changed their residence.

The decision in the case was unquestionably right. That is, if the English language means what it says when put into a definite rule. It's as plain as the nose on your face. So there's no room to "holler."

MEXICAN SOCIAL CENTER

Announcement was made today of plans for re-novating the usefulness of the old Logan street schoolhouse. During the time the building was used as a school for Mexican children, it became a center for gatherings of parents of the children. The parents were given instruction in matters pertaining to sanitation, housekeeping and sewing. It is now proposed through an organization that has been perfected to enlarge this work, and to extend the social service work of the center.

The Mexican resident is a problem in nearly every community in Southern California. He seems to have come to stay. His numbers will continue to increase unless restrictions are placed at the border.

In Santa Ana, we have several hundred Mexicans who came here from Old Mexico. They are living under better conditions here than they did before they came, yet those conditions may not be up to the standards we would wish to have reached by all of those who live in our community. Their health concerns us vitally.

More than that, their children born here are full fledged American citizens. They will grow up with the right to vote. It behooves us to see to it that these dusky Americans are given a thorough training in Americanism. It is time, then, that we begin the work with their parents.

New Yorkers and Pennsylvanians might retaliate by going south next summer and selling mountains to Florida people.

BOOZE-SOAKED RUSSIA

It is depressing news from Russia these latter days. With the liquor bars down again, an alcoholic flood pours over the land. The Russian people are drinking vodka, 40 per cent stuff, at the rate of a million quarts a day. They drink it at home and they drink it in the dispensaries and on the streets. The vodka lines are said to be longer than the bread lines were in the time of famine.

The saddest thing about this is that the Moscow government doubtless realizes exactly what it is doing. It is making "a contented people."

A sober nation would have developed a clear brain and saved itself. A nation soaked in alcohol may be stupidly contented with Bolshevism.

The Constitution's all right, but current swindles suggest that the country needs a new set of buy-laws.

TOO MANY MODERN VANDALS

"To what limit," as high school students read in one of Cicero's orations, "will unbridled audacity go?" Referring in the present case to American souvenir-hunters, who wreak more devastation than conspiring Cataline ever dreamed of.

The latest noteworthy outbreak is particularly shameful. It occurred in connection with the discovery of the crushed body and plane of the air mail pilot, Charles H. Ames, near Bellefonte, Pa. No sooner were the whereabouts of the plane made known than the vandals swooped down upon it.

After the removal of the pilot's body, a guard had been left in charge of the plane. But he was unarmed. When he remonstrated with visitors seeking souvenirs, they beat him into submission with clubs, then helped themselves to what they wanted. The investigating board going up the mountain side to view the wreckage "met half the plane coming down."

The vandals made impossible a satisfactory examination of the plane by post office inspectors. They even carried off the name plate on the side of the plane which the air mail superintendent had promised to send to the dead man's parents.

The same procedure occurred in the Shenandoah disaster.

The old Vandals, when they invaded Italy and sacked Rome, won an eternal reputation for wanton theft and destruction. This modern type of vandalism is worse than theirs, because civilized people are supposed to know better. The American mania for "souvenirs" is winning Americans a disgraceful reputation in every part of the earth.

THE CREATOR VS. BOBS

Only a few bold prophets seem to know whether the fashion of bobbed hair is here to stay or is going out, and even the prophets do not agree. So, in spite of its widespread prevalence, bobbed hair remains an important issue in some places and to some people. Certainly it is a matter of serious consequence to John Thompson, editor of the Thorold, (Ont.) Post. He recently stated his point of view thus:

"I am opposed to bobbed hair on principle. If I had a thousand girls not one would have bobbed hair. The Creator made women's hair long and I am in favor of leaving it that way."

It would be rather fun to hear a debate on the subject of the Creator's intention about women's hair, and whether he really made women's hair any longer than men's. And in the meantime a daughter with her heart set on bobbed locks might give the Thorold editor at least one good shock. And, perhaps, the editor might tell us whether men got a special dispensation to cut their hair.

Local Self-rule

Pasadena Star-News

A note of warning and of sound advice is sounded by Herbert C. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce. He urges against the surrender of local government prerogatives to federal authority. In discussing this subject, Mr. Hoover said that he does not believe "the people of our communities have yet become so supine or so careless of the fundamental advantages of self-government that they are ready to surrender control of their most intimate concerns to a paternal government at Washington, however wise or however powerful." And in prefacing his address to the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, Mr. Hoover observed that "our government was devised in spirit to sustain a dual purpose—to protect our people among nations by a great national power and to preserve individual freedom by local self-government."

The tendency, in some quarters, to surrender the prerogative of self-government in counties and states, to the national authority, is not politically sound. The people should resist it. For the farther removed from the people of any locality the seat of government may be, the less likelihood of direct interest by government in local problems. The logical result is for citizens to become disappointed and embittered, and in their disgust to refuse to vote or to have anything to do with politics.

The need of the day is to bring government and its problems directly to the people and to imbue the masses with direct responsibility for government.

FRESH AIR IS ONE OF BEST PREVENTIVES
Because it occurs so frequently the disagreeable condition known as the common cold is usually lightly regarded. That the malady causes suffering, inconvenience, economic loss and is often the forerunner of more serious affections is overshadowed by its apparent triviality. It should be regarded as a serious disease.

Recent studies among school children disclosed the disturbing fact that common colds are responsible for approximately one-fourth of all absences. It was also found that the children in open-window school rooms, while often pale and undernourished, were relatively free from colds.

The exact cause of the common cold has not been definitely determined. Probably a number of factors are concerned.

However, for practical purposes it may be considered that the causative agent of most colds is conveyed from person to person through direct or indirect contact.

The common cold also has the unenviable distinction of conferring little or permanent immunity or resistance to the disease after an attack. In this respect, it differs radically from some other diseases.

Formerly it was believed that drafts, exposure to cold and chilling of the body were immediately responsible for colds. Now, it is regarded as likely that these factors cause a weakening of the body's protective forces, thereby rendering the organism more susceptible to invasion by disease.

Thus, fatigue, loss of sleep, insufficient food, or too much food, and work in stuffy or overheated rooms may be cited as conditions upon which colds may be engendered more readily than when the individual is in robust health.

When the weather becomes cool and windows are closed, colds become prevalent. It is likely that artificially heated homes, which have poor ventilation and insufficient humidity, are places in which colds may be readily acquired.

The nasal passages of the nose possess anti-septic and bacteria-destroying qualities to superheated living quarters, a strong defensive factor is eliminated.

When a person having a cold sneezes or coughs while in close proximity to a well person, there is a favorable opportunity for the direct transfer of infective material.

Persons with colds should avoid, as much as possible, contact with others. One infected person at a bridge party may infect half a score of others. The careless person with a cold is a genuine menace.

The person who is well should be vigilant lest he contract a cold. There are a few simple rules, which, when observed will assist in warding off this undesirable condition. First of all, the standard rules of hygienic living must be followed.

One should work, play and sleep in fresh air, which desirable commodity can usually be insured in ample quantity by a bit of personal effort.

The clothing, of course, should be warm and yet neither cumbersome nor uncomfortable.

Nourishing and easily digestible food should be eaten in moderation.

Finally, it is manifestly a wise thing to shun the person having a cold.

"A Christian Burial"

In his "My Own Story," running serially in the Oakland Post-Inquirer, Fremont Older, for many years editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, tells about the burial of an ex-convict, who died at Older's ranch, where he was a protege of the editor and his good wife:

"Mrs. Older, Jack Black and Charlie, our houseman, took the body over to San Jose and arranged for its burial. Aside from Byrne's two brothers they were the only mourners. There was no clergyman to officiate. As we were laying him away, a clergyman came over from a nearby grave where he had been officiating, and asked us if we would like him to say a prayer. This was the Rev. Frank Linder of the First Methodist church of San Jose. He had read the story of Byrne's death and was sympathetic. He stepped to the edge of the grave, and said:

"We pause at reverent attention when a brother man has passed into the great silence. We give hearty thanks for every kindness shown to and for every service done to this man, and for all who have hurt and harmed him we pray that in the divine economy it may be forgiven them. We give special thanks for those who wait here this afternoon because they care. We rejoice to believe that there are so many in this world of men who do care. May their tribe increase until we shall become really a society of folk who care. We remember the One who said: 'Into Thy hands I commit my spirit.' We would scarcely care to trust the final destiny of human life with any human person. We see not at all. We know only in part. We rejoice in the belief that at the center of life there is a divine spirit, which sees all, and knows, and understands. Into that divine intelligence we would commit this life, and may the peace which passeth all understanding be with him and with us all. Amen."

"NIGHT WIND"

I love to think this fragrant air
I breathe in the deep-bosomed night
Has mixed with beauty, and may bear
The burden of a heart's delight.

This may have been the burning breath
That uttered Deirdre's love. It may
Have been a note outlasting death
As Sappho sang her heart away.

It may have fanned a joy so deep
That lullum must pay the price,
And under desert sand must sleep
Heroes and towers in sacrifice.

And this rich air, it may have been,—
To bring these dreams, so sweet a throng,—
Sighed by the lovely listening queen
While Solomon had sung his song.

So it will take from me, from thee,
Ere from our being it departs,
And keep for lovers yet to be
All the enchantment of our hearts.

SMALL CHANGE

A keen rider to hounds was out with a strange pack, and owing to a series of mishaps had got out of touch with the field. Jogging along a country lane he came to a child searching the ground carefully at the foot of a tall hedge.

"What are you doing there, my boy?" asked the sportsman, curiously.

"Lookin' for small change, sir," grinned the lad. "The master always jumps 'igher than 'is orse at this 'edge."—Edinburgh Weekly Scotsman.

"Yes, dear," was the reply.

"Well, I've come down to forgive you and dad."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

This afternoon Ma sent me errand to Smiths butcher shop for 2 pounds of serloin stake and be sure it was tender, and Mr. Smit cut it off and started to way it, me saying: Are you sure its tender?

Certeny its tender, jest look at it, Mr. Smit sed. Wich I did, all meet looking alike to me except sauridges and chickens, and Mr. Smit sed, How does the thawt of making a dime strike you, Benny?

Good, I sed. Wich it allways does, and he sed, All rite, take this half a ham to 22 Jawson Street and stop in and get your stake on your way back.

All rite, I sed. Not telling him I never herd of Jawson Street, and he rapped up the half of a ham and I took it out of the store, thinking, G. Im glad it aint a whole ham if half is this heavy. And wen I got to the corner I asked some kid on a bisyckle if he knew ware Jawson Street was, thinking he mite know a lot about streets on account of having a bisyckle, and he sed, Keep rite on going, you'll see it.

Being a freckle face kid with round dots on his cap making him look even more so, and I kepp on wawking and carrying the half a ham diffrent ways to make it seem lighter without coming to Jawson Street, and I asked some lady, saying, Can you tell me ware Jawson street is? and she sed, Wy yes, I bleeve so, tern down that way about 4 blocks.

Being a tall lady with a short nose, me starting to wawk the way she sed, thinking, G. winnickers, this half a ham must be made of iron. And the fether I wawked the more I dident come to any street marked Jawson Street, and I asked a man driving a milk wagon and he sed, Jawson, sure, tern to your rite for about 6 blocks.

Being a kind of a pale milkman looking as if it was a lucky thing for him he got so much fresh air, me thinking, Like heck, Ive had enuff. And jest then a huckster wagon went past and I sat on the back step with the half a ham and got off in frunt of Smits meet store.

Limit of Population
is Beyond Calculation

San Bernardino Sun

An economist of the purely mathematical sort and with no vision whatever says that when the United States shall have reached the 200,000,000 mark it will come to a standstill, because that is the limit of our ability to feed ourselves, unless some revolutionary process of food production is in the meantime discovered. That puts the time of trouble not far into the future. At out somewhat regular rate of growth in the past, that every approximately 20 per cent every decade, we should reach the limit stated by 1975. That places only 50 years between our present prosperity and chaos, according to mere mathematics.

Whether we shall continue to grow at that rate is doubtful. Our new policy of restricting immigration will slow up the rate somewhat, but even if it took us 25 years longer it would be but a short portmanteau of the evil day. Two important things seem to be left out of the calculation. One is the fact that there are millions of uncultivated acres which would be made to yield food if so great a demand were created for it. The other is that elsewhere in the world more acres are uncultivated at all or but very poorly so, that would be made to yield far more than all the world's present cultivated area now yields, and we could go into the open market for food with our manufactures, just as England is now doing.

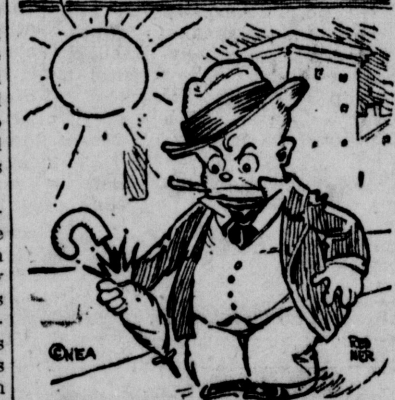

But this mathematical economist shows shall vision of future discoveries in applied science in making no allowance for new sources of food and new ways of multiplying the yield of present sources. Under conditions that existed 50 years ago this same economist—economical in

OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Belfon

NO. 2—A QUEER INVITATION

There were many surprises in store for the Twins in the Land of High Jinks.

Indeed, it was just one great surprise. There were so many odd people.

A Jack O'Lantern came along and made a deep bow—as deep as a bow as a Jack O'Lantern can make. "Here is your invitation," he said. "It is an invitation to come from a party."

"To what?" said Nick in surprise. "You mean to go to a party, don't you?"

"Oh, no," laughed the Jack O'Lantern. "That would be too ordinary. Anyone can invite you to a party. I am inviting you to come from my party. It shows that I mean well, that I like you well enough to give you an invitation, and it saves me a lot of trouble. I don't have to give a party at all. Good-bye! I hope you will have a good time in High Jinks Land."

Away went the Jack O'Lantern, and Mr. Corn Dodge laughed.

"That's just a high jink he was playing," he said. "Sort of a joke, you know. Jack O'Lantern is one of my best friends and he wouldn't do anything mean for the world. See, he is giving invitations to everyone he meets."

Suddenly the Scare Crow, who had just received an invitation, began to laugh. He laughed so loudly and so long, that half his straw fell out. Indeed, it is no joke to say that he was fairly bursting his sides with laughing.

"What are you laughing at, you goose?" asked the Jack O'Lantern crossly. "Are you laughing at me?"

"Certainly," said the Scare Crow. "Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho! It's my turn to laugh, and he who laughs last, laughs best, and he who laughs first, goes to a party first, so we can come from it."

"That's so!" agreed a tall clown with a surprised look and his hair done in a peak. "Your invitations mean that you are going to give a
